THE 1984 MEETING IN CINCINNATI: LOCAL ARRANGEMENTS UPDATE

The Local Arrangements Committee has begun arranging tours, cultural activities, and other events to be held during the 1984 Annual Meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio. Cincinnati, which is nestled amongst seven hills on the bank of the Ohio River, is a city of diversity, providing a unique contrast of old and new, and combining a cosmopolitan air with small town charm.

Cincinnati provides an excellent site for conventions because unlike many other cities it has retained a vital downtown area which is the center of dining, nightlife, shopping, and cultural events in the city. The focal point of downtown is Fountain Square which is the center of many activities and events. The downtown area is linked by a skywalk system which provides easy access to dining, shopping, and nightlife.

Cincinnati is noted for its fine restaurants, boasting more 4 and 5 star Mobil Award-winning restaurants than any other city of comparable size. The city is renowned as well for its ethnic cuisine featuring restaurants ranging from French to German to Indian fare.

Cincinnati is also noted for its diverse shopping, with unique shops providing a wide range of merchandise. The finest department stores, designer clothing shops, and antique dealers are located downtown. Nearby Hyde Park features shopping in fashionable, chic shops and boutiques. Also near downtown is Findlay Market, an open air old world market place which has been in continuous operation since 1825.

Cincinnati is also the home of many excellent cultural events and activities. There are a large number of museums, galleries, and theatres. Music Hall, which was built in 1878 and appears on the National Register of Historic Places is the home of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, the fifth oldest symphony in the world. Cincinnati also boasts the second oldest opera company in the U.S. and one of the nation's top ten professional ballet companies.

Cincinnati's riverfront setting provides a number of unique activities including riverboat cruises and floating theatres and restaurants. The riverfront area is the site of the Serpentine Wall which forms an amphitheatre for concerts and other activities. This area is also the location of Riverfront Stadium, the home of the Cincinnati Reds and the Bengals.

Cincinnati is a very cosmopolitan city which provides great diversity. The Local Arrangements Committee is planning a number of tours, events and activities. Suggestions of activities from the membership are welcomed and should be sent to: Sandra S. Evans, Local Arrangements Chair, Criminal Justice Program, University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati, Ohio 45242.

NIJ INAUGURATES NIJ REPORTS

James K. Stewart, Director of the National Institute of Justice, has released the first issue of NIJ REPORTS which replaces SNI.

The new journal expands the format of the earlier version. It is intended to reach new and wider audiences with the results of research by the National Institute of Justice.

"By enhancing the visibility of criminal justice research, I hope that the ideas it produces will gain wider currency in policy and day-to-day practices of criminal justice agencies," observed Stewart.

The expanded format will continue to provide the reader with recent publications of interest. In addition, REPORTS will have new sections on research in action, Director's Notes, and special announcements pertaining to new programs and new research tools.

The first volume contains a special section on forensics. Included in this section is an update on Institute research on bloodstains and genetic typing in semen.

In his cover statement, Stewart notes that the Institute will be developing other avenues for communicating the latest information. Included in this aspect of the Institute's agenda will be workshops to bring together practitioners, researchers, and leading experts "to exchange ideas on key issues in criminal justice."
