2004 EDWIN SUTHERLAND AWARD RECIPIENT

JOHN BRAITHWAITE

John Braithwaite, this year’s winner of the Edwin H. Sutherland Award for outstanding research in criminology, is a good deal more than a brilliant intellectual who has contributed some of the most solid empirical work and some of the most challenging policy recommendations to our field. He is, besides this, the most extraordinarily decent human being we have had the privilege of knowing. It is this side of John that we will briefly address here; his scholarly achievements are documented in the vita on his web page and all of us undoubtedly have read some of his contributions and found them discussed in the discipline’s literature. John, by way of illustration, recently was named the most cited authority on white-collar crime in American criminology textbooks, though white-collar crime is not the subject on which he has primarily focused.

Both of the writers of this piece worked a few years ago at the Australian National University in Canberra, the country’s prime educational establishment, where John is a professor in the Law Program. One day he was gone to the Philippines to do some training for locals. We asked his close friend and colleague Peter Grabosky what this was all about: “John says that he is blessed by all that he has here and that he owes it to those who are less fortunate to share with them, for free, what he has learned.”

Then there is the story of the ANU Law Program being without a female member. “We’re sorry, John,” he was told when he protested this, “but we have no FTE opening.” They would not open a tenure-track appointment for a woman because they said it would

(Continued on page 3)
CONFERENCES AND WORKSHOPS

VENEZUELAN CRIMINOLOGY GROUP, ANNUAL MEETING, November 4-6, 2004, Merida, Venezuela. For information contact Chris Birkbeck at birkbeck@ula.ve

FIRST INTERNATIONAL AND FIFTH BIENNIAL CONFERENCE OF THE INDIAN SOCIETY OF VICTIMOLOGY (ISV), November 18-20, 2004, Mannamman Sundaranar University, Tirunelveli, India. For further details, visit the conference website at http://www.isvconf.co.nr.

2005 CONFERENCES

UNITED NATIONS 11th WORLD CRIME CONGRESS, April 18-25, 2005, Bangkok, Thailand. For further information contact Dr. Cindy Smith at ejsmith@ubmail.ubalt.edu or Dr. Nancy Grossfingen at grossfingen.un@hotmail.com.

1ST INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE OF THE EUROPEAN AND INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH GROUP ON CRIME, ETHICS AND SOCIAL PHILOSOPHY (ERCES), April 21-23, 2005, St. Petersburg, Russia. For further details, see http://ercesinternational.tripod.com.

EUROPEAN SOCIETY OF CRIMINOLOGY, September 1-3, 2005, Cracow, Poland. For meeting logistic matters contact: eurocrim@cicero.law.uj.edu.pl

AROUND THE ASC

WALTER DEKESEREY has moved from Ohio University to the University of Ontario Institute of Technology and can be reached by e-mail at walter.dekeserey@uoit.

BETSY STANKO has been appointed as the Senior Advisor for Strategic Analysis, The Metropolitan Police, New Scotland Yard, London.

*******************************

Our sincere apologies to A. Marco Turk for the printing errors in his article published in the May/June newsletter.

*******************************
2004 THORSTEN SELLIN & SHELDON AND ELEANOR GLUECK AWARD RECIPIENT

FRANCES HEIDENSOHN

Professor Frances Heidensohn is internationally known for her pioneering work on gender and crime and for her contributions to comparative criminology and criminal justice. She has also had an outstanding career in public service. For decades, Prof. Heidensohn has been at the very center of research on gender and crime in the United Kingdom and one of the leaders, world-wide, in this area of research. In 1968, five years before the start of feminist criminology in North America, Heidensohn published the world's very first article on this topic in the British Journal of Sociology. She has continued to be an influential scholar in this area, with books that include Women in Control? The Role of Women in Law Enforcement (Oxford University Press, 1992); Women and Crime (Macmillan; first ed. 1985; second ed. 1996); Sexual Politics and Social Control (Open University Press, 2000); and Gender and Policing (with J. Brown; Macmillan, 2000). Prof. Heidensohn's credits in this area further include an edited collection, International Perspectives in Feminist Criminology (Open University Press, 1995), and an important 1989 research report for the Police Foundation, Women in Policing in The USA. Prof. Heidensohn's contributions to comparative criminology can be gauged partly by publications such as Crime in Europe (Routledge, 1991; with M. Farrell) and some of the titles listed above, such as the edited collection on International Perspectives and her recent book on policing, which covers almost forty countries in Africa, AustralAsia, Eastern and Western Europe, and North America. However, to assess the full range of her contributions to international endeavors, one must also take into account her frequent participation in conferences around the globe, including the annual meetings of the American Society of Criminology, which she has attended for many years, her delivery of deliver keynote speeches in Australia, the U.K., and Europe, and her participation in the recent United Nations conference on transnational crime. In addition to the works already mentioned, Prof. Heidensohn is the author of the highly respected Crime and Society (Macmillan, 1989) and over sixteen journal articles. In addition, she has authored over twenty-five chapters for edited book collections. These include her definitive articles on "Gender and Crime" in the authoritative Oxford Handbook of Criminology. Prof. Heidensohn has also had a distinguished parallel career in public service. She chaired several health authorities in the British National Health Service. Currently, as a Commissioner for Judicial Appointments in the U.K., she is concerned with auditing the selection processes for judges to ensure that they are equitable and fair. She also serves as a member of the Sentencing Advisory Panel, which does research and publishes guidelines for the Appeals Court in England and Wales. Her impact on criminology over the past forty years has been substantial and her scholarship is recognized worldwide. For this reason, the Sellin-Glueck Award Committee, confirmed by the ASC Board, ranked her the highest of all candidates nominated for this award this year.

Rosemary Barberet, Chair
2004 Thorsten Sellin & Sheldon and Eleanor Glueck Award Committee

2004 AUGUST VOLLMER AWARD RECIPIENT

EDWARD J. LATESSA

Edward J. Latessa is Professor of Criminal Justice and Head of the Division of Criminal Justice at the University of Cincinnati. For the last three decades, Dr. Latessa has had extensive involvement with city, county, state and federal juvenile and criminal justice programs and in institutions and professional organizations. His research in the areas of institutional and community corrections, offender classification, and correctional rehabilitation and treatment is recognized nationwide. Recognizing that one of the primary shortcomings of many correctional intervention strategies is a failure to base programming on a theoretically sound model, his research and technical assistance has sought to remedy this problem. Professor Latessa has created an important legacy of hands-on contributions to the field by demonstrating the value of research to policymakers, bolstering the success of countless programs and achieved far-reaching impacts on the services provided to thousands of wards and clients in the juvenile and criminal justice systems.

Harry E. Allen, Chair
2004 August Vollmer Award Committee
increase the permanent faculty above the accepted level of 33 percent. John said he would give up his tenured appointment in favor of a woman. They found a way to add a woman to their faculty.

And there is the story that when a handful of the star professors at ANU were offered a significant sum of bonus money if they would commit to staying at the University for at least five years, John said that he would stay put, but refused the funds, asking that they be used to support worthy students.

We remember an article that John had written about the duties of judges. He wanted suggestions about where he might publish it. We ranked the relevant journals and said that he should start at the top and, if necessary, work his way down. No, he said, the prestige of the outlets was of no consequence; he wanted to know where the article could do the most good, not for him, but for the ideas that he was advancing.

Edwin H. Sutherland, for whom the Award John is to receive is named, was courageous in defying the ruling axiom at the University of Chicago mandating academic neutrality. Sutherland wrote a fierce polemic against crimes by powerful corporate executives and high-level politicians. Sutherland also was bold when teaching summer school at the University of Washington during the second World War. In a newspaper interview he lashed out at the government for its obnoxious policy of interning resident Japanese citizens.

John, more than anyone we know, exposes himself to the corporate managers and criminal offenders and sees them as persons who, however wayward, are fundamentally human beings who will respond to decent treatment. But he is not infinitely tolerant. The story is still told in Canberra of two public speeches by Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia to the law faculty in which he baited and taunted them. Nobody in that extremely learned audience responded. "He was our guest," one distinguished lawyer told us. "It is not polite to argue with a guest." But that evening at a well-attended dinner at the American Embassy John and Scalia engaged in an energetic exchange of views, before an awed dining audience, an event that at least one of the combatants remembers with considerable satisfaction.

John’s father was a very famous Australian war hero. He was one of six prisoners of war who survived the 1945 Sandakan to Ranau death march in Borneo of more than 2,000 Australian and British soldiers, a march in which John’s mother’s first husband died. Perhaps John’s father passed along some of his courage, sense of fair play, and endurance to John.

Clifford Shearing, another close friend of John’s, notes his astonishing work ethic: "John keeps track of extraneous things he has to do; otherwise he simply assumes that all his other time is to be devoted to work."

But John is not without flaws. Valerie, his wife and a top-notch social psychologist, remembers John coming home one day and observing wistfully that he had forgotten to go to the bank to get some U.S. dollars for a consulting trip that he was taking the next day.

"But you’re going to Chile," she told him. "Dollars aren’t the currency there."
"Oh," John said cheerfully. "Isn’t it good that I didn’t get the dollars."

---------------------------------

Henry N. Pontell and Gilbert Geis
University of California, Irvine

(* The authors wish to make clear that they had no bearing whatsoever on the Sutherland Award Committee’s decision.)
2004 HERBERT BLOCH AWARD RECIPIENT

DORIS LAYTON MacKENZIE

Doris Layton MacKenzie is Professor in the Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice at the University of Maryland and Director of its Evaluation Research Group. Professor MacKenzie is admired by practitioners and scholars alike for her sophisticated, extensive, and policy-inspiring research on boot camps and other corrections issues. Her work opened the corrections field to rigorous scholarship and encouraged many others to follow her lead. Professor MacKenzie's other contributions to the profession and to the American Society of Criminology include chair and founder of the ASC Division on Corrections and Sentencing, and from 1998-2003 the time-consuming role of ASC Executive Secretary. Much of Professor MacKenzie's service has been carried out behind the scenes, with little fanfare or recognition. She has served on six journal editorial boards; she has been Guest Editor, Associate Editor, and Senior Editor of three journals, the latter with Criminology and Public Policy, and since 1987 she has chaired or been a member of over 30 ASC or ACJS divisions and committees.

Hugh D. Barlow, Chair
2004 ASC Herbert Bloch Award Committee

2004 RUTH SHONLE CAVAN YOUNG SCHOLAR AWARD RECIPIENT

JEFFREY D. MORENOFF

Professor Jeffrey D. Morenoff received his doctorate from the University of Chicago in 2000 and currently is Assistant Professor of Sociology at the University of Michigan. His contributions to the field concern the spatial dynamics of crime and its correlates. He applies spatial modeling techniques to address key theoretical and substantive issues. His work has helped clarify the spatial and social organizational processes that explain variation in violence, as well as the broader ramifications of crime for the health and stability of urban neighborhoods. Professor Morenoff has published a substantial volume of quality work in a very short time. It is noteworthy that Professor Morenoff's work appears in the preeminent journals in criminology and sociology: Criminology, American Journal of Sociology, American Sociological Review, Annual Review of Sociology and Social Forces, among others. In addition, his book chapters have been published in volumes published by prominent academic presses (Cambridge, Chicago, National Academy, Oxford and Russell Sage). As one review notes, "In my view, he has emerged as one of the leading contemporary spatial analysts of crime not only among young scholars but also among scholars of any generation."

Cheryl Maxson, Chair
2004 Ruth Shonle Cavan Young Scholar Committee
2004 ASC FELLOW RECIPIENTS

J. DAVID HAWKINS

J. David Hawkins is School of Social Work Kozmetsky Professor of Prevention and Founding Director of the Social Development Research Group, University of Washington, Seattle. He received his B.A. from Stanford University and his Ph.D. in Sociology from Northwestern University. His research focuses on understanding and preventing child and adolescent health and behavior problems. He seeks to identify risk and protective factors for health and behavior problems across multiple domains; to understand how these factors interact in the development or prevention of problem behaviors; and to test comprehensive prevention strategies which seek to reduce risk through the enhancement of strengths and protective factors in families, schools, peer groups and communities. Since 1981 he has been conducting the Seattle Social Development Project, a longitudinal prevention study based on his theoretical work. Dr. Hawkins is the developer of the "Communities That Care" program, co-developer of the Social Development Model, a theory which provides a foundation for positive development and delinquency and drug abuse prevention, and co-author of "Preventing the Drug (Free) Years," and "Parents Who Care," prevention programs that empower parents to strengthen family bonding and reduce the risks for health and behavior problems in their families. He is also co-author of Communities That Care: Action for Drug Abuse Prevention, co-editor of A Sourcebook on Serious, Violent, & Chronic Juvenile Offenders, and editor of Delinquency and Crime: Current Theories. He is President of the Society for Prevention Research, has served as a member of the National Institute of Drug Abuse's Epidemiology, Prevention and Services Research Review Committee, and the Office for Substance Abuse Prevention's National Advisory Committee, the National Institutes of Health's Study Section for Community Prevention and Control, the DOE Safe, Disciplined, Drug-Free Schools expert panel, and the Washington State Governor's Substance Abuse Prevention Committee. He is a member of the Editorial Board of Prevention Science. He is listed in Who's Who in Science and Engineering, was awarded the 1999 Prevention Science Award from the Society for Prevention Research, 1999 August Vollmer Award for outstanding scholarly contributions to the field of criminology from the American Society of Criminology, and the 2003 Paul Tappan Award for outstanding contributions to the field of criminology from the Western Society of Criminology. He is committed to translating research into effective practice and policy.

JULIE HORNEY

Julie Horney is Dean and Professor in the School of Criminal Justice at the University at Albany, State University of New York. She received her BA from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and a Ph.D. in experimental psychology from the University of California at San Diego. Her research in the areas of criminal case processing, legal impact analysis, and individual patterns of criminal and violent behavior has been funded by the National Institute of Justice and the National Science Foundation, and reports of that work have been published in Criminology, the American Sociological Review, the Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology, the Journal of Research in Crime and Delinquency, the Journal of Quantitative Criminology, and Law and Society Review. She is the co-author (with Cassia Spohn) of Rape Law Reform: A Grassroots Revolution and Its Impact (Plenum, 1995) and is an editor of Policies, Processes, and Decisions of the Criminal Justice System, Criminal Justice 2000, Volume 3 (U.S. Department of Justice, 2000). She currently serves on the editorial boards of Criminology, the Journal of Research in Crime and Delinquency, and Women and Criminal Justice, and was previously a deputy editor of Justice Quarterly. She has been a reviewer of grant proposals for the National Institute of Justice, the National Science Foundation, and the National Institutes of Health and served for four years as a member of the Injury Research Grant Review Committee of the Centers for Disease Control. She has previously served as an executive counselor of the ASC and is currently the president-elect. She is also a member of the steering committee of the National Consortium on Violence Research. Her current research focuses on the experiences of incarcerated males and females with violence and the avoidance of violence and how those experiences are shaped by situational factors.
2004 ASC FELLOW RECIPIENTS

KENNETH C. LAND

Kenneth C. Land is the John Franklin Crowell Professor of Sociology and Demographic studies at Duke University. He is well known in criminology for his work on statistical models for the analysis of crime and victimization rates and for his contributions to crime opportunity theory, studies of unemployment and crime rate fluctuations, the analysis of structural covariates of crime rates, and the study of delinquency/criminal careers. His students who have made important contributions to criminology include David Cantor, Patricia L. McCall, and Pamela Wilcox. Dr. Land previously has been elected a Fellow of the American Statistical Association, the Sociological Research Association, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the International Society for Quality-of-Life Studies.

ROSS MATSUEDA

Ross L. Matsueda is Professor of Sociology, Clarence and Elissa M. Schrag Endowed Faculty Fellow, and Associate Director of the Center for Statistics and the Social Sciences at the University of Washington. He has also been a member of the National Consortium Research on violence since 1999. He has published articles testing classical criminological theories, exam Ross L. Matsueda is Professor of Sociology, Clarence and Elissa M. Schrag Endowed Faculty Fellow, and Associate Director of the Center for Statistics and the Social Sciences at the University of Washington. He has also been a member of the National Consortium Research on Violence since 1999. He has published articles testing classical criminological theories, examining deterrence and rational choice, developing theories of social control based on GH Mead's writings, and contributing to structural equation methods. He has two current research projects. The Seattle Neighborhoods and Crime Survey, funded by NSF and NCOVR, examines relationships between neighborhood organization, collective efficacy, codes of violence, and criminal violence across Seattle neighborhoods. The second project, also funded by NSF, estimates longitudinal models of rational choice, deterrence, and identity formation.

2004-2005 ASC ELECTION RESULTS

President-Elect: Gary LaFree, University of Maryland
Vice President-Elect: Denise Gottfredson, University of Maryland
Executive Counselors: Janet Lauritsen, University of Missouri-St. Louis
Alan J. Lizotte, The University at Albany
ASC PRESIDENT’S AWARD FOR DISTINGUISHED CONTRIBUTIONS TO JUSTICE

JEROME G. MILLER

A special benefit and special responsibility tied to the office of ASC president is the honor of selecting—with the subsequent approval of the Society’s Executive Board—the recipient of the ASC President’s Award for Distinguished Contributions to Justice. As I stopped to consider this choice, I initially had a tug of anxiety over who I might nominate for the important award. But this uneasiness soon dissipated as my thoughts focused on what the justice award was intended to honor. Indeed, the clarity of the choice—in part due to my personal history, in part due to his roster of remarkable career accomplishments, and in part due to the principles that infuse his work—made me wonder why I had suffered any trepidations: Jerome G. Miller, known of course, as “Jerry Miller.”

As chance would have it, our biographies intersected—in distant but, to me, relevant way—in the first part of the 1970s. I had grown up in Boston and was attending a state college in Bridgewater, Massachusetts. With a touch of altruism, a measure of curiosity, and the lure of avoiding other course assignments, I volunteered to visit weekly with inmates at the local state hospital for the criminally insane—a place later vilified in the documentary, Titicut Follies. What started out as an adventure soon evoked a complex set of thoughts and emotions. The depressing physical setting, the limited treatment services, and the rampant hopelessness were stunning revelations. Other volunteer work at an institution for the mentally retarded was even more disquieting. I often left in tears and with the guilty knowledge that I was relieved to put these sights—and people—behind me. Although I was a psychology major and a believer in rehabilitation, the dreariness and potential harms of institutional life imposed much cognitive dissonance on me.

This personal context perhaps explains why I came to admire the work of Jerry Miller. By 1970, Jerry had come to Massachusetts with the intention of reforming the Department of Youth Services, the state’s juvenile correctional system. As is now well known, over the next three years, he initiated a remarkable radical “experiment,” closing the state’s reform schools and placing youths in community programs. Subsequent research revealed, of course, that the much-predicted rise in juvenile crime did not occur in Massachusetts and that youths in quality community programs had lower recidivism rates. What is perhaps less appreciated today is the boldness of this reform and the courage involved in negotiating an inordinately hostile political environment. For me, the changes in Massachusetts illuminated what someone with a firm commitment to justice might achieve. In particular, I was heartened that corrections might involve more than the placement of the wayward in dehumanizing institutions. Jerry, in short, showed that the possibility to do corrections differently, humanely, and safely in the community was not a utopian vision but an achievable reality.

In the intervening years, Jerry Miller has had a career distinguished not only by accomplishment but also by his commitment to social justice. Following his work in Massachusetts, he held leadership positions and led reform efforts in the juvenile systems of Illinois and Pennsylvania. In Pennsylvania, as a special assistant to the governor, he helped initiate plans that enabled 1,000 youthful offenders to be removed from the state’s adult prisons. For several years, he was a jail and prison monitor for the United States District Court in the Middle District of Florida. Importantly, he was co-founder of the National Center on Institutions and Alternatives and the Clinical Director of the Augustus Institute. In this latter role, he has continued a clinical practice in which he has worked with those involved in violent and sexual offenses. His efforts further encompass assisting juveniles facing waivers to adult court and conducting psychosocial assessments for those facing sentencing in capital cases.
Beyond this roster of accomplishments, Jerry Miller’s diverse efforts have embodied, among others, two fundamental principles. First, based on both his criminological knowledge and a wealth of professional experience, he has championed the view that institutions are an ineffective and inevitably inhumane solution to crime. This view is articulated marvelously in his 1991 book, Last One Over the Wall: The Massachusetts Experiment in Closing Reform Schools. It is a volume that junior scholars should visit and senior scholars should revisit—as I have done recently. Second and perhaps more salient, across his career, he has manifested an abiding belief in the dignity and value of each individual. Jerry understands that holding onto this belief is challenging; he has seen, first-hand, offenders who have committed unspeakable harms. But he also realizes that treating offenders as “the Other”—as people whose differences justify their physical separation and our psychological separation from them—comes with its own enormous costs. We create correctional systems that ultimately make us less safe and foster values that diminish our humanity.

I thus invite the ASC membership to join with me in honoring Jerry Miller’s substantive and symbolic contributions to the criminological community. Through his deeds, example, and words he has done much to advance the cause of justice. His efforts have made justice systems more humane, individuals less harmed and harmful, and criminologists more aware that true reform is not always beyond reach. I trust that you will share my firm conviction that Jerry richly deserves the ASC President’s Award for Distinguished Contributions to Justice.

Frances T. Cullen, President
American Society of Criminology

*******************************

2004 ASC GENE CARTE STUDENT PAPER AWARD RECIPIENTS

First Prize: Derek A. Kreager, University of Washington
“Strangers in the Halls: Isolation and Delinquency in School Networks”

Second Prize: Michael Massoglia, University of Minnesota
“Desistance or Displacement? The Changing Patterns of Offending From Adolescence to Young Adulthood”

Third Prize: Gary Sweeten, University of Maryland at College Park
“Who Will Graduate? Disruption of High School Education by Arrest and Court Involvement”

*******************************

2004 ASC MINORITY FELLOWSHIP RECIPIENTS

Denise D. Nation, University of Cincinnati
Tomson Nguyen, University of California, Irvine
Holly Ventura, University of South Carolina
2004 MICHAEL J. HINDELANG BOOK AWARD RECIPIENTS

JOHN H. LAUB

ROBERT J. SAMPSON

John H. Laub, Professor of Criminology at University of Maryland, and Robert J. Sampson, Professor of Sociology at Harvard University, are winners of the 2004 Hindelang award for their book, Shared beginnings, divergent lives: Delinquent boys to Age 70 (Harvard University Press, 2003). The original research design by the Gluecks involved a sample of 500 male delinquents aged 10-17 and 500 male nondelinquents aged 10-17 matched on age, race/ethnicity, IQ, and low-income residence in Boston. Data were collected at three points in time, ages 14, 25, and 32. Laub and Sampson reconstructed and reanalyzed the full longitudinal data set in their earlier work, Crime in the Making (1993). In their new work, Laub and Sampson conducted national death record and criminal history searches for all 500 men in the delinquent sample up to age 70. Uniquely, they also conducted detailed life-history interviews with 52 men from the original delinquent sample as they approached age 70. The new book addresses unresolved questions and challenges. For example, is meaningful within-individual change possible for life-course-persistent offenders? Can we identify distinct groups of offenders not only by their level of offending, but by also by their rate of change in offending over time? And can a person-based approach be integrated with a variable-based approach to discern the inner logic of the lives involved?

The personal narratives, interviews, observations and descriptions of the men whose lives they followed strike a chord with the very best work of the Chicago school tradition. Laub and Sampson have moved this tradition into the next century by masterfully combining advanced quantitative methods with the qualitative personal narratives of the offenders in the cohort. They identify the causal mechanisms at work (pathways) that lead some to a life of criminality while others move into different pathways. Their book not only makes a major contribution to the life course theoretical tradition but constitutes a major breakthrough in understanding the nuances of the "pathways to criminality": personal agency, situated choice, routine activities, aging, and local culture (among others). By bringing to life-course theory aspects of the social bond, "drift," and the role of formal and informal social control mechanisms, they do much to expand current conceptualizations of life course theory and life course analysis. Laub and Sampson's new book epitomizes scientific criminology and pays homage to Michael Hindelang's legacy of careful and scientifically sound research.

Wayne N. Welsh, Chair
2004 ASC Michael J. Hindelang Book Award Committee
Beyond this roster of accomplishments, Jerry Miller’s diverse efforts have embodied, among others, two fundamental principles. First, based on both his criminological knowledge and a wealth of professional experience, he has championed the view that institutions are an ineffective and inevitably inhumane solution to crime. This view is articulated marvelously in his 1991 book, Last One Over the Wall: The Massachusetts Experiment in Closing Reform Schools. It is a volume that junior scholars should visit and senior scholars should revisit—as I have done recently. Second and perhaps more salient, across his career, he has manifested an abiding belief in the dignity and value of each individual. Jerry understands that holding onto this belief is challenging; he has seen, first-hand, offenders who have committed unspeakable harms. But he also realizes that treating offenders as “the Other”—as people whose differences justify their physical separation and our psychological separation from them—comes with its own enormous costs. We create correctional systems that ultimately make us less safe and foster values that diminish our humanity.

I thus invite the ASC membership to join with me in honoring Jerry Miller’s substantive and symbolic contributions to the criminological community. Through his deeds, example, and words he has done much to advance the cause of justice. His efforts have made justice systems more humane, individuals less harmed and harmful, and criminologists more aware that true reform is not always beyond reach. I trust that you will share my firm conviction that Jerry richly deserves the ASC President’s Award for Distinguished Contributions to Justice.

Frances T. Cullen, President
American Society of Criminology

******************************

2004 ASC GENE CARTE STUDENT PAPER AWARD RECIPIENTS

First Prize: Derek A. Kreager, University of Washington
“Strangers in the Halls: Isolation and Delinquency in School Networks”

Second Prize: Michael Massoglia, University of Minnesota
“Desistance or Displacement? The Changing Patterns of Offending From Adolescence to Young Adulthood”

Third Prize: Gary Sweeten, University of Maryland at College Park
“Who Will Graduate? Disruption of High School Education by Arrest and Court Involvement”

******************************

2004 ASC MINORITY FELLOWSHIP RECIPIENTS

Denise D. Nation, University of Cincinnati
Tomson Nguyen, University of California, Irvine
Holly Ventura, University of South Carolina
Controversies in Criminal Justice Research
edited by Richard Tewksbury & Elizabeth Ehrhardt Mustaine
Presents students with challenging looks at some of the most basic, and sometimes most difficult, decisions faced by criminal justice researchers. Each chapter presents an overview of a foundational question/issue in the conduct of research, and discussions of the options to resolve these controversies.
Pub #04568, ISBN 1-58360-547-9, 2004, 200 pp., $29.95

Controversies in Juvenile Justice and Delinquency
edited by Peter J. Benekos & Alida V. Merlo
Explores some of the most important current controversies in juvenile justice. Original essays review major theories of juvenile delinquency, explore psychological and biological factors that may explain delinquent behavior, and examine the nexus between substance abuse and delinquency.

Criminal Justice Internships: Theory Into Practice, 5th Edition
Gary R. Gordon, R. Bruce McBride & Hedy Hyde Hage
Designed both as an introduction to internships for criminal justice students who are involved in experiential education and as a guidance manual for use at the internship site. Students will learn basics such as choosing an appropriate internship site, résumé writing techniques, interviewing skills, and the importance of setting and developing goals and assessing progress.
Pub #04405, ISBN 1-58360-559-2, 2005, 175 pp., $25.95

Criminal Justice Policy and Planning, 2nd Edition
Wayne N. Welsh & Philip W. Harris
Acquaints students, practitioners and policymakers with scientific techniques and a seven-stage framework for analyzing criminal justice problems and developing solutions. It explains the benefits of “planned change” using a variety of case studies to illustrate suitable planning techniques as well as the pitfalls that can be avoided by implementing such techniques.
Pub #04415, ISBN 1-58360-560-6, 2005, 275 pp., I.G., $35.95

1-877-374-2919
text • 859-626-3037
e-mail • criminaljustice@lexisnexis.com

ap anderson publishing
A member of the LexisNexis Group
The New and Improved ASC Email Mentoring Program

... is up and running and awaiting ASC students to make use of our many willing criminologists who can help answer your research, theoretical, and career questions. It is spam-free, thanks to our new password system.

Our mentors represent a range of races/ethnicities, ages, nationalities, and genders. Not to mention, you can choose from practitioners, researchers, and academics. And, very importantly, they have a great number of areas of expertise (women and crime, hate crimes, corrections, etc.), listed on the website. You can find them by going to the ASC main website or by going directly to the ASC Email Mentoring Website:

http://ascmentor.anomie.com

And, dear students, don’t forget to nominate your choice for

The American Society of Criminology Mentor of the Year.

Please nominate your choice for the ASC mentor-of-the-year award. Choosing from the ASC Email Mentoring Program list, send nominate someone who has been especially helpful to you. It’s easy! Just email me at the address below with your nomination.

Your chosen mentor will receive a lovely plaque at the upcoming ASC meetings. Please make your nominations by October 1, 2004.

Thanks!!!

Bonnie Berry, PhD
Social Problems Research Group
Mentor_inbound@socialproblems.org

MEMBERS’ NEW BOOKS

NICOLE RAFTER, Northeastern University, and MARY GIBSON, John Jay College of Criminal Justice, Criminal Woman, the Prostitute, and the Normal Woman, a new translation of the classic by Cesare Lombroso and Guglielmo Ferrero, with an introduction and notes (Duke University Press, 2004).

MICHAEL WELCH, Rutgers University, Ironies of Imprisonment (Thousand Oaks, California: Sage Publications)
Get informed
Stay informed
Make a Difference!

Let the Criminal Justice Washington Letter be your watchdog on crime policy making in D.C. This on-line newsletter, bi-weekly when Congress is in session, will give you insider knowledge, and, with the website, facilitate relevant participation by criminologists. Our professional community can have a research based voice, in a time efficient manner, which the system needs.

Representing researchers, teachers, and professionals, speaking for themselves as experts, but who have not been heard.

See Subscribe in the website
www.crimeletter.net
2005 Criminal Justice Washington Letter
Year Individual Subscription $20
Year Agency Subscription $100
Students (if required for a course) $10

A partial list of non-profit groups active in Washington crime policy, often through coalitions:
Alliance of Concerned Men
American Bar Association
Government Affairs Office
American Correctional Association
American Friends Service Committee
American Jail Association
American Probation and Parole Association
Amnesty International
Campaign for an Effective Crime Policy
Capital Punishment Project for the ACLU
CATO Institute
Center for Community Alternatives
Center for Law and Social Policy
Constitution Project
COSSA (Consortium of Social Science Associations)
Corrections Education Association
Crimson International (a faith-based coalition)

Criminal Justice Coordinating Council
Criminal Justice Policy Foundation
CURE (Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Errants)
Drug Policy Alliance
FAMM (Families Against Mandatory Minimums)
Family Justice
Federal Prison Policy Project
Hope House
Hoover Institute
Human Rights Watch
ICCA (International Community Corrections Assoc.)
Innocence Project
Interfaith Advisory Council
Jersey City Center for Crime Reduction
Justice Fellowship
Justice Policy Institute
Justice Research
Leadership Conference on Civil Rights
Legal Action Center

LEAK (Literacy, Education, Rehabilitation, Action)
MALDEF (Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund)
Milton S. Eisenhower Foundation
NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund
National Alliance to End Homelessness
National Association of Blacks in Criminal Justice
National Association of Counties
National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers
National Center for State Courts
National Center for Victims of Crime
National Council of La Raza
National Crime Prevention Council
National Governors Association
National Law Center on Homelessness and Poverty
National League of Cities
National Legal Aid and Defender Association
National Prison Project for the ACLU
National Sheriff’s Association
National TASC (Treatment Accountability for Safer Communities)
Open Society Policy Center
Partnership for the Study and Prevention of Violence
Penal Reform International
People for the American Way
Police Foundation
Prison Fellowship
REACH Inc.
Sentencing project
United States Conference of Mayors
Urban Institute
Urban League
Volunteers of America

“I am trying to make the newsletter a means of enrichment and participation in crime policy, by experts with research and experience, without altering the rhythm of our lives and careers.” --Mike Israel, Editor, CJWL

www.crimeletter.net
israelmike@crimeletter.net
DIVISION NEWS

DIVISION OF CRITICAL CRIMINOLOGY

CALL FOR PAPERS

The editors of Critical Criminology: An International Journal are seeking manuscripts that deal with questions of social, political and economic justice. The journal is for academics and researchers with an interest in the anarchistic, cultural feminist, integrative, Marxist, peace-making, postmodernist and realistic criminology. Critical Criminology also deals with issues that include class, gender, race/ethnicity and heterosexism. It encourages works that focus on creative and cooperative solutions to justice problems, plus strategies for the construction of a more inclusive society. Critical Criminology is the official journal of the Division of Critical Criminology in the American Society of Criminology. Manuscripts should be approximately 6,000 to 8,000 words (including tables, illustrations, notes and references) and framed in a manner that would be of interest to an international audience. Book reviews are also welcome and shorter research notes (3,000 words) will be considered for publication. Three hard copies and a disk copy of manuscripts should be sent to: Barbara Sims, Editor-in-Chief, Penn State Harrisburg, 777 West Harrisburg Pike, Middletown, PA 17057. For those contributors for whom regular mail is a problem, an electronic copy of the paper can be sent to Dr. Sims at bas4@psu.edu. Contributors are encouraged to consult previous issues of the journal for the appropriate citation style and format of their manuscripts.

CALL FOR REVIEWERS FOR MANUSCRIPTS SUBMITTED TO CRITICAL CRIMINOLOGY

The editors of Critical Criminology: An International Journal are seeking manuscript reviewers for submissions to the journal. Individuals should be willing to work with the editors under their policy of ensuring a timely response to authors. If interested, please contact Barb Sims, Editor-in-Chief, at bas4@psu.edu.

NEW BOOK REVIEW EDITOR APPOINTED FOR CRITICAL CRIMINOLOGY

The editors of Critical Criminology: An International Journal, are pleased to announce that Dr. Suzette Cote, California State University, Sacramento, has been named as Book Review Editor for the journal. Individuals are encouraged to contact Sue at scote@csus.edu if they know of a book they would like to see reviewed or to have their names placed on a list of individuals willing to review books identified by Sue.

UPDATE OF EDITORS AND CONTACT INFORMATION FOR CRITICAL CRIMINOLOGY: AN INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL

Barbara Sims, Editor-in-Chief
Penn State Harrisburg
777 West Harrisburg Pike
Middletown, PA 17057
(717) 948-6044; (717) 948-6320 fax
Bas4@psu.edu

Suzette Cote, Book Review Editor
California State University, Sacramento
Division of Criminal Justice
6000 J Street
Sacramento, CA 95819-6085
(916) 278-6437; (916) 278-7692 fax
scote@csus.edu

Mark Israel, Editor for the Pacific Rim
School of Law
Flinders University
GPO Box 2100
SA 5001 Australia
(61) 8 8201 3673; (61) 8 8201 3630 fax
mark.israel@flinders.edu.au

Joanna S. Goodey, European Editor
Vienna International Centre
P.O. Box 500
1400 Vienna, Austria
Jo.Goodey@unodc.org
DIVISION NEWS

DIVISION OF INTERNATIONAL CRIMINOLOGY

The International Division is organizing a workshop for the Annual Meeting in Nashville for current and former Fulbright grantees. If you are a former Fulbright grantee and would like to share your knowledge and experience, please contact DIC Executive Counselor Dick Andzeng at dtandzenge@stcloudstate.edu

DIC NASHVILLE ACTIVITIES

DIC Business Meeting
Thursday, November 18, 11:00 am – 12:20 pm – Renaissance Nashville Hotel Ballroom West

DIC Luncheon
Thursday, November 18, 12:30 – 1:50 pm – Renaissance Nashville Hotel Ballroom West

The annual luncheon features a buffet of the local cuisine of Nashville, Tennessee. DIC members $25.00; DIC student members $15.00; Non-DIC members $30.00; Non-DIC student members $20.00. The luncheon will also include the DIC Chair's report — an update on all the latest DIC news and activities; DIC Awards Ceremony (Distinguished Scholar Award and Book Award); United Nations international criminal justice policymaking news, and our now traditional "open mike" — announce your news, promote your conference, search for research partners...whatever you would like to share, the microphone is yours!

DIC Publications Committee Meeting
Thursday, November 18, 2:00 – 3:20 pm – Room 101, Nashville Convention Center

******************************************************************************

DIVISION OF CORRECTIONS AND SENTENCING

DCS NASHVILLE ACTIVITIES

DCS Business Meeting and Award Breakfast
Thursday, November 18 - 8:30 – 10:30 am - Fisk 1 – Renaissance Nashville Hotel

DCS Business Meeting and Social
Friday, November 19 - 3:30 – 6:00 pm - Fisk 1 – Renaissance Nashville Hotel

******************************************************************************

DIVISION ON PEOPLE OF COLOR AND CRIME

DPCC NASHVILLE ACTIVITIES

DWG/DPCC Social
Wednesday, November 17 - 9:00 – 11:00 pm - Music City Room – Renaissance Nashville Hotel

DPCC Luncheon and Symposium
Friday, November 19 - 12:30 – 1:50 pm – Renaissance Nashville Hotel Ballroom Center
DIVISION NEWS

DIVISION ON WOMEN AND CRIME

DWC NASHVILLE ACTIVITIES

DWC Awards Presentations
Wednesday, November 17, 3:30 – 4:50 pm – Fisk 1, Renaissance Nashville Hotel

Division on Women and Crime and Division on People of Color and Crime Social
Wednesday, November 17, 9:00-11:00 pm – Music City Room, Renaissance Nashville Hotel

DWC Breakfast/Business Meeting
Thursday, November 18, 7:30-9:00 am – Fisk 2, Renaissance Nashville Hotel

DWC Breakfast/Business Meeting
Friday, November 19, 7:30-9:00 am – Fisk 2, Renaissance Nashville Hotel

DWC Publications Committee Meeting
Friday, November 19, 11:00 am – 12:20 pm – Fisk 2, Renaissance Nashville Hotel

*****************************************************

DIVISION ON CRITICAL CRIMINOLOGY

DCC NASHVILLE ACTIVITIES

DCC Business Meeting
Friday, November 19 - 4:00 – 6:30 pm - Ryman 2 – Renaissance Nashville Hotel

DCC Social
Friday, November 19 - 7:30 – 9:30 pm - Ryman 2 – Renaissance Nashville Hotel
Call for Nominations for the 2004 Division on Women and Crime Awards

Nominations are requested for the following Division on Women and Crime awards:

Distinguished Scholar Award which recognizes outstanding contributions to the field of women and crime by an established scholar. The contributions may consist of a single outstanding book or work, a series of theoretical or research contributions, or the accumulated contributions of an established scholar. Eligibility includes scholars who have held a Ph.D. for eight or more years.

New Scholar Award which recognizes the achievements of scholars who show outstanding merit at the beginnings of their careers. Outstanding merit may be based on a single book or work, including dissertation or a series of theoretical or research contributions to the area of women and crime. Eligibility includes scholars who held a Ph.D. for less than eight years.

The nominees are evaluated by the awards committee based on their scholarly work, their commitment to women crime as a research discipline, and their commitment to women in crime as advocates, particularly in terms of dedication to the division on women and crime. In submitting your nomination, please provide the following supporting materials: a letter evaluating a nominee's contribution and its relevance to the award and the nominee's c.v. (short version preferred). No nominee will be considered unless these materials are provided and arrive by the deadline.

Send nominations and supporting materials by October 15, 2004:

Awards: Division Awards will be presented at the Division on Women and Crime meeting at the ASC conference in Atlanta, GA. The committee reserves the right to give no award in a particular year if it deems appropriate. Submissions: Please send a letter of nomination describing the nominees contributions, identify the award for which you are nominating the individual (distinguished scholar, new scholar), and make sure that a vita for this nominee reaches the committee in a timely fashion. Self nominations are welcome. Send to: Kimberly J Cook, Department of Criminology, University of Southern Maine, P.O. Box 9300, Portland, ME 04104, or by e-mail: kjcook@usm.maine.edu

---

BOOKS NEEDED

The Library of the Law Institute, Vilnius, Lithuania, needs your help to build up their library holdings in English. Currently, the library has fewer than 50 criminology or related books in English. If you have an extra copy of your own books or criminological books in general, we'd like to receive them. Your contribution is also tax-deductible.

Please send your books directly to: Algimans Cepas, Director, Institute of Law, Gedimino av. 39, Ankstoji str. 1, LT-01109 Vilnius, Lithuania

Or you can send them to me and I will send them to him on your behalf: Liquin Cao, Ph.D., Department of Sociology, Anthropology & Criminology, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, MI 48197

Thank you very much for your book donation.
FOURTEENTH WORLD CONGRESS OF CRIMINOLOGY

August 6-12, 2005

University of Pennsylvania - Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Provisional Theme:
REDUCING CRIME AND PROMOTING JUSTICE: CHALLENGES TO POLICY,
PRACTICE, AND SCIENCE. THE PHILADELPHIA TRADITION: 1776-2005

Criminologists all over the world are invited to come to Philadelphia in August 2005 and debate major issues in criminology and criminal justice. The venue of the conference is the beautiful campus of the oldest university of the USA, which combines tradition with the most recent conference facilities. The program will provide innovative opportunities for listening and learning, for discussion and debate:

* Special plenary sessions on far reaching global issues, with simultaneous translation.
* Special high level topical and methodological training workshops given by world renowned experts on program evaluation, crime measurement, comparative methodology and crime prevention.
* Roundtables on innovations in criminal justice
* Poster sessions

The organizers offer:

* Discounts for students and all attendees from developing nations
* International Criminology Book Exhibit
* Tour first prison in the U.S., Eastern State Penitentiary
* Social activities designed to provide ample opportunities to meet new colleagues

Please join in the preparations for making the 14th World Congress of Criminology a global and intellectually most vibrant experience. Papers may be delivered in the ISC official languages: English, Spanish and French, or in any other language common to one workshop. We would like to encourage our colleagues to organize sessions and bring their networks to Philadelphia.

For further information and pre-registration please visit the website www.crim.upenn.edu/2005.html or contact the local organizers at 2005@sas.upenn.edu. For suggestions for contributions to the program contact:

Professor Susanne Karstedt at s.karstedt@crim.keele.ac.uk or
Professor Lawrence Sherman at lws@sas.upenn.edu
EXPLORE POLICE WORK IN THE NEW CENTURY . . .

FAIRNESS AND EFFECTIVENESS IN POLICING is an important book for anyone concerned about police work. It replaces myths with research findings and gives recommendations for updated policies and practices that guide its use.

FAIRNESS AND EFFECTIVENESS IN POLICING
THE EVIDENCE

Committee to Review Research on Police Policy and Practices
Wesley Skogan and Kathleen Frydl, editors

National Research Council
ISBN 0-309-08433-4
Hardcover, $49.95

TO ORDER:

Call toll-free 1-888-624-7651
or
Browse before you buy — preview a full-text, searchable version or buy a downloadable, PDF online at www.nap.edu.

NATIONAL ACADEMIES PRESS
Washington, D.C.
JOURNAL OF CONTEMPORARY CRIMINAL JUSTICE
Special Issue: Inmates' Experiences in Prison
(November 2005 Issue)

The Journal of Contemporary Criminal Justice invites individuals to submit manuscripts for consideration for inclusion in a planned special issue on the topic, Inmates' Experiences in Prison. The Guest Editors encourage submissions on all aspects of the subject but is especially interested in manuscripts that focus on the psychological, social and environmental effects of prison on inmates.

Inquiries about the appropriateness of topics should be directed to Doris Layton Mackenzie or Fawn Ngo Mitchell, JCCJ Guest Editors, via e-mail at dmackenzie@crim.umd.edu or fngeo@crim.umd.edu. All manuscripts will be peer reviewed. Manuscripts should be no more than 25 typed, double-spaced pages including tables, figures and references. Manuscripts must be received no later than March 15, 2005. Please send four manuscript copies, along with the manuscript on disk, to Fawn Ngo Mitchell, Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice, 2220 LeFrak Hall, University of Maryland, College Park, MD 20742-8235.

CALL FOR PAPERS
JOURNAL OF EXPERIMENTAL CRIMINOLOGY

The Journal of Experimental Criminology focuses on high quality experimental and quasi-experimental research in the development of evidence based crime and justice policy. The journal is also committed to the advancement of the science of systematic reviews and experimental methods in criminology and criminal justice. The journal seeks empirical papers on experimental and quasi-experimental studies, systematic reviews on substantive criminal justice problems, and methodological papers on experimentation and systematic review. The journal encourages submissions from scholars in the broad array of scientific disciplines that are concerned with crime and justice problems.

The first issue of this exciting new Criminology journal will be published in the spring of 2005. For more information about the Journal of Experimental Criminology and for Authors' Instructions, we kindly refer you to the journal homepage at www.kluweronline.com/issn/1573-3750

For additional information please contact;

Editor-in-Chief:
Professor David Weisburd
Institute of Criminology
Faculty of Law
The Hebrew University
Mt. Scopus, Jerusalem 91905
ISRAEL
Email: msefrat@mscc.huji.ac.il

Please send your submissions to:

Managing Editor:
Mrs Rochelle Schnurr
[expericrim@savion.cc.huji.ac.il]
ACJS EDITOR POSITION

Journal of Criminal Justice Education

The Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences is seeking applications for the position of Editor of the Journal of Criminal Justice Education: An official publication of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

The Editor Selection Committee of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences is accepting applications for the position of Editor of the Journal of Criminal Justice Education. The Editor will be responsible for administering a high quality academic journal for the ACJS membership. The Editor will set editorial policy, select deputy and associate editors, create a peer review system, and manage the journal. Applications must meet the following criteria:

- Demonstrated record of scholarly activity as measured by such indicators as publications in refereed journals, book publication, and research;
- Prior editorial experience as measured by such indicators as editorial responsibilities for other scholarly publications and past experience as a referee, associate, or deputy editor of an academic journal, or other demonstrated editorial experience;
- Earned doctorate or terminal degree in criminal justice or related field;
- Senior (associate professor or above) academic rank at host institution;
- ACJS membership;
- Formal declaration of support from host institution, including release time, space, and other support services the institution will commit to editorship.

Those interested in being considered should provide a formal proposal to the Editor Selection Committee no later than January 7, 2005. The proposal should include:

- Statement of editorial philosophy for the Journal of Criminal Justice Education;
- Statement of applicant's qualifications, including vita;
- Formal declaration of institutional support;
- A budget including a breakdown of the expenses that will be provided by the host institution and those expected for the Academy.

The Executive Board of the Academy will appoint the Editor for a three-year term. Applications and requests for further information should be directed to:

Jeffery T. Walker
Department of Criminal Justice
University of Arkansas, Little Rock
Little Rock, AR 72204-1099
(501) 569-3083

The Editor's first issue will be March, 2006 (Volume 17, Number 1). The ACJS Executive Board recently approved a $5,000 stipend for the Editor.

************************

WOMEN & CRIMINAL JUSTICE

WOMEN & CRIMINAL JUSTICE is the only periodical devoted specifically to interdisciplinary and international scholarly research and criminal justice practice dealing with all areas of criminal justice in relation to women. It provides both scholars and practitioners with a single forum devoted to this critical specialty area in the fields of both criminal justice and women's studies. The journal is refereed and features original research articles from academicians and professionals in the field that reflect its interdisciplinary and international focus. The manuscript should be approximately 20-25 pages double-spaced with a one-inch margin on all four sides and should include an abstract of 200 words, a title page, and a brief biographical sketch of author(s). References, citations, and general style of manuscript should follow the APA style (as outlined in the latest edition of Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association). References should be double-spaced and placed in alphabetical order. Please send 4 copies to: Dr. Donna C. Hale, Editor, Department of Criminal Justice, Shippensburg University, 1871 Old Main Drive, 317 Shippen Hall, Shippensburg, PA 17257-2299.
2004 NASHVILLE LOCAL ARRANGEMENTS COMMITTEE WEBSITE

http://www.nashvillecvb.com/client_sites/asc/index.html

Gary Jensen and Michael Ezell, Vanderbilt University, and Co-Chairs of the 2004 Nashville Local Arrangements Committee, have prepared a website for the November Nashville meeting that is filled with information on transportation, attractions, live music entertainment and nightlife, events, and restaurants and sports bars to make your trip to Music City a memorable one. Should you need additional information or for a complete overview of Music City, visit the Nashville Convention & Visitors Bureau website at www.musiccityusa.com

CALL FOR PAPERS

SECURITY JOURNAL
The Security Journal provides a forum for the debate and analysis of key issues within the field of security. It brings together papers written by some of the world’s leading practitioners and academics with the aim of generating new ideas and improving the management and practice of security. The papers will aim to facilitate the exchange of knowledge and good practice, and bridge the various disciplines, professions and countries. The ultimate criteria for a paper’s acceptance are that the reader will learn something new from it and that it will advance learning in terms of generating ideas and/or improving practice. Contributors will include policy makers, professionals and academics. The journal will include research-based papers and case studies, as well as papers aimed at developing theory and good practice (3,000 - 5,000 words) and where appropriate, shorter pieces describing work under consideration or in progress (1,000 - 2,500 words). For more information about the journal, please visit the website: http://www.perpetuitypress.com/acatalog/Perpetuity_Press_Security_Journal_22.html. For inquiries concerning submission guidelines and requirements, please contact co-editor Professor Bonnie Fisher at: Bonnie.Fisher@uc.edu

A CRITICAL JOURNAL OF CRIME, LAW AND SOCIETY
The Justice Professional has been replaced by A CRITICAL JOURNAL OF CRIME, LAW AND SOCIETY, a refereed journal published quarterly by Routledge, Francis and Taylor Group. It is housed at the C. W. Post Campus of Long Island University, Department of Criminal Justice. The journal publishes articles that deal with substantive criminal justice and criminological issues, inviting both qualitative and quantifiable papers. We welcome all articles relevant to areas of criminal justice as well as areas of public administration and public affairs. Literature review, summary report of innovative research projects, and research notes are all considered as well. MANUSCRIPT Typewritten, double spaced manuscripts must be submitted in quadruplicate (three blind copies) and sent to: Roslyn Muraskin, Ph.D., Editor, A Critical Journal of Crime, Law and Society, C.W. Post Campus – Post Hall 3C3, 720 Northern Blvd., Brookville NY 11548. An abstract of not more than 100 words, as well as a brief biographical statement describing the author’s current affiliation and rank should accompany the manuscript along with the article on disk in Word. A CRITICAL JOURNAL regards submission to the journal as a commitment to publish herein. Permission for use of copyright material is the responsibility of the author. Manuscripts should not exceed 20 typewritten double spaced pages. All footnotes, references, tables, figures, illustrations must be camera ready on an eight and one half by eleven wide paper. Footnotes and bibliographic citations must follow the journal style based upon that followed the American Psychological Association (APA). Since manuscripts are sent out anonymously for editorial evaluation, the authors’ name should appear on a separate cover sheet. Electronic copies are accepted and should be sent to Roslyn.Muraskin@liu.edu.
CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY FULLERTON
Department of Political Science & Criminal Justice, College of Humanities & Social Sciences — Criminal Justice/Open Specialization, Tenure-Track

The Division of Political Science and Criminal Justice at California State University Fullerton invites applications for the position of Assistant Professor (tenure track.)

Position: We seek applicants to teach a variety of courses within an undergraduate program in Criminal Justice and courses in the faculty member's field of specialization. The successful candidate will be expected to contribute to the development of the Criminal Justice elective curriculum and to the integration of innovative teaching technologies into course materials. Assigned time may be available for activities such as instructional research, course development, and departmental responsibilities. Positive tenure and promotion decisions require excellence in teaching as well as research, publication in appropriate peer-reviewed venues, and participation in the broader disciplinary community.

Qualifications: A Ph.D. in Criminal Justice or related field is required. ABD's may apply but must show evidence that the degree will be completed by the time of appointment. (J.D. or L.L.B. is not sufficient.) Ability to teach a variety of courses within an undergraduate program in Criminal Justice and field of specialization. Preference will be given to applicants who have demonstrated success in effective teaching at the college level. Candidates should be able to interact effectively with a wide and diverse range of students and colleagues. Background or interest in a related area that will contribute to the development of the Criminal Justice elective curriculum is also desirable.

Rank and Salary: The position is at the rank of Assistant Professor, tenure-track. Salary is highly competitive and commensurate with experience and qualifications. Salary is subject to budgetary authorization and any California State University System faculty contract increases. Additional teaching in summer and intersession is often available. An excellent comprehensive benefits package is available which includes health/dental plans; spouse, domestic partner and/or dependent fee-waiver; access to campus child-care as well as affordable housing program; and a defined-benefit retirement through the state system, along with optional tax-sheltering opportunities. For a detailed description of benefits, go to http://hr.fullerton.edu/benefits/compare_benefits.htm

Appointment Date: August 2005

Application Procedure: Please send a letter of application, curriculum vitae, three letters of recommendation, evidence of teaching effectiveness (e.g., syllabi and evaluations), a sample of scholarly writing, and graduate transcript(s) to the Division Chair. Applicants who have additional expertise in other areas of Criminal Justice are requested to include a description of their qualifications and interests within the letter of application. Send materials to:
Professor Alan Saltzstein, Chair, Division of Political Science & Criminal Justice, California State University, Fullerton, P.O. Box 6848, Fullerton, CA 92834-6848

Application Deadline: Application review begins on October 15, 2004 and will continue until the position is filled. Cal State Fullerton is an Equal Opportunity/Title IX/503/504/VEVRA/ADA Employer.

EMORY UNIVERSITY
The Department of Sociology invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to begin in August, 2005. We are seeking candidates in the area of criminology. A record of excellence in research, successful teaching experience, strong writing skills, and a Ph.D. by the date of appointment are required. Preference will be given to applicants with a secondary interest in one or more of the department's other areas of concentration, including global/comparative studies, culture, organizations, social psychology, stratification, medical sociology, and sociological theory. Send vita, three letters of recommendation, a summary of teaching experience and course evaluations, and one to three samples of publications or other written work to Robert Agnew, Chair, Search Committee, Department of Sociology, 1555 Dickey Drive, Emory University, Atlanta, GA 30322. We will begin screening applications after October 15, 2004. Emory University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and strongly encourages applications from women and minorities.

CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY, LOS ANGELES
College of Health & Human Services invites applications for the position of Professor and Director of the School of Criminal Justice and Criminalistics with tenure. The starting date is July 1, 2005. Minimum qualifications include an earned doctorate in criminal justice or related field from an accredited university. Specialization is open. Significant scholarly publications in peer reviewed journals; success in securing external funding; substantial administrative experience; demonstrated proficiency in oral and written communication; and dem-demonstrated ability and interest in working in a multicultural, multicultural environment are required. Duties include serving as the 12-month Director of the School of Criminal Justice and Criminalistics and teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in criminal justice. Student advisement is required. Participation in University governance and community service as well as research and publications are required. California State University, Los Angeles, a comprehensive urban university and one of the 23 campuses that comprise the California State University system, offers programs in more than 50 academic and professional fields. The campus is located at the eastern edge of Los Angeles and adjacent to the western San Gabriel Valley, with more than 22,000 full and part-time students reflecting the rich, ethnic diversity of the area. The University is committed to student-centered learning, free scholarly inquiry and academic excellence, hires on the basis of merit, and encourages qualified minorities, women and persons with disabilities to apply. Initial salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. Please send a cover letter and vita outlining teaching, research and grant experiences, three letters of recommendation and an official transcript from institution awarding highest degree to: Dr. Deborah Baskin, Director, School of Criminal Justice and Criminalistics, California State University, Los Angeles, 5151 State University Drive, Los Angeles, CA 90032-8163. For more information, please call (323) 343-4610 or visit our website at http://www.calstatela.edu/academic/hhs. The application deadline is November 30, 2004.

CENTRAL CONNECTICUT STATE UNIVERSITY
The Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice invites applications for 2 tenure-track positions to be filled at the Assistant Professor level. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in criminology, criminal justice, or a related field at the time of appointment. Evidence of excellent teaching ability, demonstrated ability to work effectively with a diverse student body, and scholarly activity appropriate to the level of the applicant (e.g., publications and presentations at professional conferences) are required. The Criminology Department, created in 1998, is a growing multidisciplinary department, offering a B.A. in Criminology and an M.S. in Criminal Justice. Faculty includes criminologists, psychologists, and attorneys (www.crim.ccsu.edu). Areas of specialization are open but preference will be given to individuals with teaching and research interests in one or more of the following: (1) public policy, diversity, juvenile delinquency, or critical criminology (Dr. Jennifer Hedlund, Search Committee Chair); (2) corrections, victimology, domestic violence, or white collar crime (Attorney Kathleen Bantley, Search Committee Chair). Send a letter of interest, a vita, and three letters of reference to: Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice, Central Connecticut State University, 1615 Stanley Street, New Britain, CT 06050-4010. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2004. CCSU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and is committed to fostering diversity in its student body, faculty and is committed to fostering diversity in its student body, faculty and staff.

EASTERN CONNECTICUT STATE UNIVERSITY
Assistant Professor of Sociology; Ph.D. in Sociology required, ABD near completion considered. Must be interested in teaching criminology and/or statistics; other areas of expertise also considered. Faculty are expected to be outstanding teachers, possess sensitivity to a diverse population, and demonstrate a commitment to creative activity and scholarship, professional development, and professional service. Screening will begin immediately and continue until position is filled. Applications should include current curriculum vitae, a transcript of all graduate work, a statement of teaching philosophy and research interest, documentation of teaching ability, and three current letters of recommendation. Respond to: Dr. Theresa Severance, Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Social Work, Eastern Connecticut State University, 83 Windham Street, Willimantic, CT 06226.

EASTERN KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY
The Department of Criminal Justice & Police Studies in the College of Justice & Safety seeks to fill one visiting assistant professor position beginning Fall 2005 and renewable up to three years. Responsibilities may include teaching courses in one or both of our undergraduate programs in Police Studies and Criminal Justice. A PhD in Criminal Justice or related discipline is preferred. Master's and/or ABD are required in Criminal Justice or related discipline. Salary will commensurate with experience. Current vita, copies of graduate transcripts and contact information for three references should be forwarded to: Search Chair, Department of Criminal Justice and Police Studies, 467 Stratton 521 Lancaster Avenue, Richmond, KY 40475. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. Review of applications will begin on December 1, 2005 and continue until position is filled. For more information about our college and department, please visit us online at www. JUS.EKU.EDU. Eastern Kentucky University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Employment Eligibility Verification required, Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. Minorities are encouraged to apply.

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY
The School of Criminology and Criminal Justice invites applications for a position at either the assistant or Associate Professor level. Ph.D. or equivalent is required. Applicants are expected to have a demonstrated ability to conduct and publish significant research or scholarship. Ability to attract external funding is desirable. Areas of specialization are open. The appointment will begin Fall 2005. Review of credentials will continue until the position is filled. Official transcripts and reference letters are required if hired. Women and persons of color are particularly welcome applicants. Please send letters of application, vita and names of three references to Ted Chiricos, Search Committee chair, School of Criminology and Criminal Justice, Florida State University, 634 West Call Street, Tallahassee, FL 32306-1127. The Florida State University is an Equal Opportunity Employer, committed to excellence through diversity. FSU complies with the Americans With Disabilities Act and is a public records agency pursuant to Chapter 119, Florida Statutes.

GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY
Assistant/Associate/Full Professor, Administration of Justice. GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY invites applications at any rank for up to two tenure-track positions in the Administration of Justice Program (ADJ) for Fall 2005. Requirements: Ph.D. or near completion in a relevant field and record/promise of excellent scholarship and teaching. Senior-level applicants should also demonstrate a record of research leadership and external funding. Area of specialization is open, but priority needs are in behavior and impact of criminal law, law and society, international/comparative justice, and crime/security policy. ADJ is a multidisciplinary program with seven faculty located in the Department of Public and International Affairs (PIA). ADJ enrolls over 480 undergraduates and offers a concentration in PIA’s nationally ranked MPA program. Master's and doctoral programs in Justice, Law, and Crime Policy will begin in fall 2005, pending state-level approval. ADJ’s faculty hold doctorates in criminal justice, law, political science, psychology, sociology, and public administration. The ADJ Program is based at the Prince William campus in Manassas, Virginia, 35 miles west of Washington, DC and offers classes at the Fairfax and Arlington campuses as well. For more information visit http://www.gmu.edu/depts/piav/adj/. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, vita, official university transcript, teaching evaluations or other evidence of teaching effectiveness, examples of research publications, and three letters of recommendation. Applicants for full professor may submit the names and contact information of references in lieu of letters. Review of applications will begin October 1 and continue until position is filled. Submit applications to: Stephen D. Mastrofski, Administration of Justice Program, 19000 University Blvd. MS 4F4, George Mason University, Manassas, VA 20110-2203. George Mason University is an affirmative action and equal opportunity employer. Women, minorities, and persons with disabilities are strongly encouraged to apply.

GEORGIA STATE UNIVERSITY
CRIMINAL JUSTICE: The Department of Criminal Justice at Georgia State University seeks to fill a tenure-track position at the Associate Professor level. The position represents a nine-month appointment with annual review and the possibility of summer teaching. A Ph.D. in criminal justice or directly related field is required. The Department is interested in applicants with expertise in statistics and quantitative methods with areas of specialization to include at least one of the following issues: violence and injury, interpersonal violence, family violence, street crime, victimization, and/ or substance abuse. This new faculty position will enable interdisciplinary collaboration as part of the University’s investment in urban health research. The Department of Criminal Justice is an integral part of this initiative, which includes the hiring of 16 new faculty positions across the University. Requirements include university teaching experience and a demonstrated record of research and publication. Responsibilities for the position include the ability to teach undergraduate and graduate courses in two specialty areas of criminal justice, conduct research, publish scholarly work, advise students, direct graduate research, and participate in university-related service. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2004; position(s) open until filled. Appointment will begin August 2005. Georgia State University has an enrollment of over 28,000 students and is located in downtown Atlanta within easy access to the state capitol, state and federal courthouses, and many other criminal justice agencies. The Department of Criminal Justice offers degrees at the baccalaureate and masters' levels and is involved in a number of public service and research efforts. Interested applicants should send a letter of application and specify the rank (assistant, associate, or full professor) for which they are applying, vita, and three letters of reference to: Dr. Mark D. Reed, Chair, Search Committee, Department of Criminal Justice, Georgia State University, P.O. Box 4018, Atlanta, GA 30302-4018. For further information about the Department, please see our web site at www.cjsu.net. Georgia State University, a unit of the University System of Georgia, is an Equal Opportunity Educational Institution and an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.
ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY

The Department of Criminal Justice Sciences invites applications for two tenure track positions beginning Fall 2005. Both positions are subject to final budgetary approval. Position one (03547) seeks applicants in the area of policing/law enforcement. The specialization for the second position (01472) is open. Individuals who are pursing a terminal degree (Ph.D.) who have reasonable expectations of completing degree requirements, including dissertation defense, by May 15, 2006 will be considered. Candidates seeking Associate Professor must hold the Ph.D. at the time of application. The J.D. is not an appropriate terminal degree for these positions and will not be considered. Candidates for Associate Professor must have a record of scholarship and service focused around the primary teaching assignment. In the absence of an established record of scholarship, candidates for the Assistant Professor position should possess the appropriate skills and abilities to develop such a record of scholarship. Candidates should be able to demonstrate the ability to teach at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Duties: Teach undergraduate and graduate courses, including Contemporary Policing, Management Issues in Criminal Justice, Research Methods, Statistics, and/or the Department's course on "society and justice" in ISU's General Education Program. We are seeking an individual with interest in developing and teaching an upper division course in law enforcement/policing. Salary commensurate with qualifications and experience. Initial review of applications will begin on November 15, 2004, and continue until the position is filled. To assure full consideration, applicants should submit a letter detailing education and professional preparation for the position, a curriculum vita, three letters of reference, and official transcripts by November 15, 2004. Send materials to: Dr. Thomas Ellsworth, Chairperson, Faculty Search Committee, Department of Criminal Justice Sciences, Illinois State University, Campus Box 5250, Normal, IL 61790-5250. The Department web site can be found at www.ilstu.edu/depts/cjs. For additional information: Telephone: 309-438-7626; email: tellswor@ilstu.edu ISU is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action university encouraging diversity.

JACKSONVILLE STATE UNIVERSITY

The Department of Criminal Justice invites applications for the position of Department Head. Duties: Teaching and research; representing the department and its faculty; managing the departmental budget; planning curriculum; managing the departmental office and personnel; providing leadership and support to faculty members in their teaching, research and service commitments; and accepting other duties as may be assigned by the dean of the college or by University policy. Qualifications: Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Criminal Justice or a closely related doctorate with five or more years of tenure line faculty teaching and research in a regionally accredited college or university. Candidates must also have an overall teaching and scholarly publication record that merits an appointment at a senior rank. Salary: Commensurate with rank and experience. Send application (available on our web site at http://www.jsu.edu/dept/hr/jobs.html), curriculum vitae, copies of transcripts, and names/addresses/phone numbers of at least three references to Jacksonville State University, Human Resources, 700 Pelham Road North, Jacksonville, Alabama 36265. Applicants selected for an interview will be required to supply official transcripts and current letters of reference. minority applicants are strongly encouraged to apply. Reference number 20382. An AA/EOE.

KEENE STATE COLLEGE

Keene State College, Department of Sociology invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position to begin fall 2005 from broadly trained sociologists who specialize in criminology and one other area. The successful candidate will be expected to teach introduction to criminal justice, criminology, introductory sociology, and a range of core courses (sociological theory, research methods, or statistics). Typical teaching load is twelve credits per semester. Further responsibilities include an active research agenda, advising/mentoring students, and providing service to the college community. The Sociology and Anthropology Department has over 120 majors served by five Sociologists and two Anthropologists. The Department has strong commitment to liberal arts education with emphasis on service learning and community outreach. Base salary Assistant Professor: $46,500/year. Qualifications: Ph.D. in Sociology by August 2005 and evidence of successful college teaching required. Review of applications will begin immediately; all applications and relevant materials must be received by October 15, 2004 to receive full consideration. Send letter of application, curriculum vitae, teaching portfolio, statement of teaching philosophy, and three letters of reference to: Sociology Search c/o Office of Human Resource Management, Keene State College, 229 Main Street, Keene, NH 03435-1604. To learn more about Keene State College, University System of New Hampshire, and Keene community, visit: www.keene.edu, www.usnh.unh.edu, or http://www.ci.keene.nh.us. Keene State College is a member of COP/LAC, a national alliance of leading liberal arts colleges in the public sector. As an AA/EOE, Keene State College is engaged in an effort to build a community that reflects the diversity of society.
Penn State Capital College
Assistant/Associate Professor of Criminal Justice
Penn State Capital College, School of Public Affairs, invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant/Associate Professor position, beginning August 2005 at its Schuylkill Haven campus. The program seeks a generalist to teach courses such as Police in America, Corrections, and Introduction to Criminal Justice, with ability to teach other courses as needed (including courses in the Master of Arts in Criminal Justice at Penn State Harrisburg). For candidates at the Associate Professor level, we are particularly interested in those interested in taking a leadership role within the Program. A Ph.D. in criminal justice or related social science discipline is required; the J.D. Doctorate is not a substitute. In addition to teaching, tenure-track faculty are expected to advise, publish, engage in service to the program, College, community, and profession. For more information on the Schuylkill campus, visit the website at http://www.slu.psu.edu. For information about the School of Public Affairs, see http://www.cl.psu.edu/spa/. Please send letter of application, curriculum vitae, with three letters of professional reference to: Criminal Justice Search Committee, c/o Mrs. Dorothy J. Guy, Director of Human Resources, Penn State Capital College, Box ASC, 777 West Harrisburg Pike, Middletown, PA 17057-4898. Application review will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Penn State is committed to affirmative action, equal opportunity, and diversity of its workforce.

Texas A&M International University
The Department of Behavioral, Applied Sciences and Criminal Justice at Texas A&M International University invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant or Associate Professor position in Criminal Justice with a primary focus on drugs in society, policing, comparative, criminal law and procedure, organized and white-collar crime, law and society, court processes, police and correctional administration. Appointment will be effective Fall 2005. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, but ABD's will also be considered. Application deadline is November 15, 2004. Salary is commensurate with qualifications. Application should include a curriculum vitae, teaching evaluation (if available), and a transcript. Send at least three letters of reference to Dr. Dean Champion, Department of Behavioral, Applied Sciences and Criminal Justice, Texas A&M International University, 5201 University Boulevard, Laredo, TX 78041-1900. Preliminary interviews with potential candidates will be conducted at the American Society of Criminology meeting in Nashville, TN in November. EOE

University of Houston Clear Lake
The University of Houston-Clear Lake (UHCL) invites applications for tenure-track position in Criminal Justice as Assistant Professor or appropriate rank, starting August 2005. Ph.D. or ABD required. Successful candidate must be willing to help develop and promote new undergraduate degree in criminal justice and contribute to ongoing graduate program in criminology. Ability to teach in two or more of the following areas highly desirable: Criminological Theory, Punishment/Corrections, Organized Crime, Criminological Research Methods and Statistics. Successful candidate will also have opportunity to develop new courses within his/her areas of interest. Applicant should provide evidence of excellent teaching, as well as potential for substantive research program. UHCL is an upper-level university (juniors, seniors, and master's level students) adjacent to NASA-Johnson Space Center. The campus is set within the scenic Armand Bayou Nature Preserve, thirty minutes from both downtown Houston and Galveston Island. Review of completed applications begins immediately and continues until position is filled. Proof of eligibility to work in U.S. must be provided. UHCL is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer supporting workplace diversity. The program seeks candidates who can enhance campus diversity. We reserve right to extend search or not fill position. Apply on-line at https://jobs.uclh.edu. Send transcripts, three letters of reference, and copies of teaching evaluations (if available) to: Chair, Criminology Search Committee, UHCL Box 416, University of Houston-Clear Lake, 2700 Bay Area Blvd., Houston, TX 77058-1098.

Alfred University
The Division of Social Sciences at Alfred University announces the availability of a tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor level for a sociologist with expertise in Criminal Justice Studies. The position will begin in Fall, 2005. Duties include teaching Crime and Delinquency and Concepts of Penology and supervising fieldwork projects. Opportunities exist for teaching in one or several of the following areas: rural justice; terrorism and security issues; gender, ethnic and racial issues in criminal justice; and juvenile justice. Opportunities also exist for summer research in conjunction with Alfred University's Rural Justice Institute. Significant international experience and international academic interests are a plus. Ph.D. preferred, ABD considered. Send letter of interest, curriculum vitae, graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation to Dr. Arthur L. Greil, Chair, Division of Social Sciences, Alfred University, Saxton Drive, Alfred, NY 14802. Review of applications will begin Nov. 1 and continue until the position is filled. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. AA/EEO.

James Madison University
Criminology/Criminal Justice
The Center for Liberal and Applied Social Sciences (CLASS) at James Madison University invites applications for a tenure track position in the newly formed Justice Studies Department at the Assistant or Associate Professor level. A Ph.D. is preferred but we will consider an ABD. Teaching responsibilities for the position include introduction to criminal justice as well as upper level criminology/criminal justice courses in the applicant's area of expertise. Review of applications will begin on October 15 and will continue until the position is filled. Applicants should send a letter of application, vita, relevant teaching evaluations, syllabi, and other supporting material to: Criminal Justice Search Committee, CLASS, MSC 1101, James Madison University, Harrisonburg, VA 22807. James Madison University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and especially encourages applications from minorities, women, and persons with disabilities.
NORTH DAKOTA STATE UNIVERSITY

The Department of Criminal Justice and Political Science invites applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant or Associate Professor level. Departmental Promotion, Tenure, and Evaluation guidelines will be used to determine Associate status. The position is housed in a Criminal Justice Ph.D. program that commenced in August of 2002. The position candidate must be able to teach and conduct research with specialization in law enforcement. Along with teaching, the successful candidate will be expected to conduct research leading to scholarly publications and engage in service. The candidate must have a Ph.D. in Criminal Justice or in an appropriate social science discipline (ABD considered for Asst. rank, but successful applicant must provide proof of completion before contract can be offered), effective oral and written communication skills, and the ability to teach effectively in the area of law enforcement. Salary commensurate with qualifications. Preference will be given to a candidate with an established research agenda. Demonstrated ability to work effectively with colleagues and students in an interdisciplinary program is considered a plus. Send a CV, the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of three references, and a letter of application that describes your research and teaching interests, strengths, and future plans to: Dr. Kevin Thompson, Chair, Search Committee, Department of Criminal Justice and Political Science, North Dakota State University, PO Box 5101, Fargo, ND 58105-5101. Deadline for application is November 1, 2004 or until filled. NDSU is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action Employer. [AA/EEO].

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY

Assistant, Associate or Full Professor 2.3/2.2/2.1
Area of Concentration - Security

The College of Criminal Justice invites applications for a faculty position (rank open) beginning in September 2005. The College seeks an energetic individual to develop and enhance the capacity of the College to deliver a high-quality, analytic security curriculum (BS/MS), conduct applied research in security, and provide service to the professional community. Depending on the candidate’s qualifications, this may be a tenure- or non-tenure-track appointment. Preference will be given to individuals who have a Ph.D., although those with graduate credentials such as an MBA or JD and appropriate experience in Criminal Justice, Security Administration, and Security Analysis are also encouraged to apply. The candidate must demonstrate a potential for leadership in the advancement of security issues, as well as the ability to link university-based research and educational programs to the wider security communities. We are especially interested in candidates with active research agendas, commitment to high quality teaching, and dedication to service to the College, the profession, and the community. The College of Criminal Justice is home to the Center for Criminal Justice Policy Research, the Race and Justice Institute and the Institute for Security and Public Policy. We are strongly committed to policy-oriented research and seek candidates who can work effectively within collaborative research environments.

NORTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY

The Department of Sociology at Northern Illinois University invites applications for an Assistant Professor position to begin August 2005. We are seeking candidates with primary expertise in criminology/criminal justice with a secondary interest in research methods. Interests in other areas of sociology are also desirable and will be considered in respect to the candidate’s fit with departmental needs. Multicultural expertise or interest is preferable; we are seeking candidates who value and use diversity in all its forms to enrich undergraduate and graduate education. A Ph.D. in sociology or related field is required; ABD will be considered, but the Ph.D. must be completed by the starting date of the appointment. A demonstrated commitment to effective teaching and research productivity is expected. Scholars of color and women are encouraged to apply. Applicants must send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, a sample of scholarly writing, teaching evaluations (if available), and three letters of recommendation to Professor David Luckenbill, Chair, Recruitment Committee, Department of Sociology, Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, IL 60115, by November 15. DeKalb is a community of about 39,000, located 65 miles west of Chicago and 40 miles southeast of Rockford. NIU is an Affirmative Action, Equal Employment Opportunity Institution.
cation including a statement of research/teaching interests, curriculum vitae, and the names and addresses of three references to: Professor James Alan Fox, Search Committee Chair, College of Criminal Justice, Northeastern University, 360 Huntington Avenue, Boston, MA 02115. Inquiries may be e-mailed to: j.fox@neu.edu. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2004, and will continue until positions are filled. Further information about the College can be found online at www.cj.neu.edu. Applications from women and minority candidates are strongly encouraged. Northeastern University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Title IX Employer.

OLD DOMINION UNIVERSITY
Old Dominion University. The Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice is seeking candidates for a tenure-track assistant professor position in criminal justice beginning in Fall 2005. A Ph.D. in criminology, criminal justice, or sociology is expected at the time of appointment. The search is open but preference will be given to individuals who can teach and do research in at least one of the following areas: race and crime, transnational crime, or juvenile justice/juvenile delinquency. Preference will be given to those who can contribute to our graduate program. The candidate will be expected to demonstrate a record of research and scholarship, including the potential to seek and receive external funding. Duties will include occasional teaching in the televised distance learning program (TELETECHNET). Opportunities exist to participate in the University's Institute for the Study of Minority Issues, Women's Studies Program, the Graduate Programs in International Studies, and the Center for Family Violence Education and Research. Old Dominion University is located in southeastern Virginia near the Chesapeake Bay and the Atlantic Ocean. Send applications to: Dr. Ruth Tripplett, Chair, Search Committee, Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice, Old Dominion University, Norfolk, Virginia, 23529. Submit vitae and at least three names of references with phone numbers and addresses. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2004 and will continue until the position is filled. Inquiries regarding the position should be directed to Dr. Ruth Tripplett (rtriplett@odu.edu). More information about the department is available on its web page at http://www.odu.edu/al/soc-cj/welcome.htm. Old Dominion University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Institution and requires compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986.

SALEM STATE COLLEGE
The Department of Criminal Justice at Salem State College is seeking two tenure-track faculty members for the fall of 2005. Required qualifications include a Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, Criminology or a closely related field (ABD considered) and demonstrated college teaching experience. For one position, a J.D. will be considered. In addition, we prefer candidates with experience in and commitment to teaching in a multicultural, multiethnic environment with students of diverse backgrounds and learning styles, as well as in distance learning and instructional technologies, and candidates who enjoy serving as role models and mentors for a diverse student body. Salaries are competitive and commensurate with education and experience. Application to subject to available funding. Application review will begin immediately and continue until an adequate pool is achieved. To apply, send letter of application specifying department, reference number, and position for which you are applying, resume, appropriate transcripts and three letters of reference to: Office of Human Resources & Equal Opportunity, Salem State College, 352 Lafayette Street, Salem, MA 01970. FAX: (978) 542-6163; E-mail: co-hr@salemstate.edu (Word or Word Perfect). Refer to: 05-AA-F-CRJ-GEN. State College is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Persons of color, women and persons with disabilities are strongly urged to apply.

SAN JOSE STATE UNIVERSITY
The Justice Studies Department invites applications for two tenure-track positions at the Assistant Professor level beginning fall 2005. All Candidates must possess a Ph.D in Justice Studies, Criminal Justice, Criminology or a related field. Position 1: Policing, White Collar Crime, Terrorism & International Crime (JRN 011511); emphasis in one or more of the areas of policing, white collar crime, terrorism and international crime. Expertise in research methods, theory, and a law degree is desirable; Position 2: Corrections, Courts, Research Methods & Theory (JRN011510); emphasis in one or more of the areas of corrections, courts, research methods and theory. A law degree is desirable. Application Procedures: send letter of application, vita, statement of teaching interests/philosophy and research plans, and contact information for at least three references to: Dr. Inger Sagatun-Edwards, Chair, Justice Studies Department, San Jose State University, One Washington Square, San Jose, CA 95192-0050, isagan@csu.sjsu.edu. Please include Job Requisition Number (JRN) on all correspondence. Review of applications will begin November 1, 2004, and will continue until filled. Department/University: The Justice Studies Department is the first degree-granting program in criminal justice in the United States. SJSU is California’s oldest institution of public higher learning and is committed to diversity. Our students and the community benefit from multicultural and gender perspectives. The campus is located in downtown San José in the world-famous Silicon Valley. Many of California’s most popular national, recreational, and cultural attractions are conveniently close.

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY
The Department of Criminal Justice at Temple University in Philadelphia, PA, has been authorized to search for two tenure-track faculty members, an assistant professor and a full professor. Both positions are part of a multi-year strategic plan designed to enhance the department’s educational, scholarly and professional leadership roles. Although excellent candidates with other areas of specialization will be considered, preference will be given to candidates whose credentials evidence significant promise or strong track records of scholarly publication and funded research, as well as excellence in teaching and professional service, in any of the following areas: juvenile justice or juvenile delinquency; ecology or geography of crime; social, community or restorative justice, including focus on race/disadvantage as well as offender reintegration; judicial processes, law and society and procedural justice; law enforcement and regulatory action, including federal as well as state and local; transnational crime; or organizations, policy analysis and program evaluation. Candidates should possess a Ph.D. Review of applications will begin in August. Interested persons can send a statement of interests, curriculum vitae, teaching evaluations and three reference letters. Applications for the assistant position also should send a writing sample or representative publications. Direct material to: Ms. LaSaundra Scott, Temple University, Department of Criminal Justice, 1115 W. Berks Street, 5th floor Gladfelter Hall, Philadelphia, PA 19122. Temple University is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY
Texas Christian University invites applications for a tenure-track position in Criminal Justice at the Assistant Professor level beginning fall 2005. Areas of research are open but preference will be given to applicants whose teaching interests best fit with program needs. Primary consideration will be given to candidates with an active research agenda, strong teaching skills, and a completed Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, Criminology or Sociology. Candidates with a Juris Doctorate as terminal degree will not be considered. The Criminal Justice Program at TCU is part of a progressive, cooperative, multidisciplinary department in a supportive academic community. Please submit a letter of application expressing teaching and research interests, a vita, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three letters of recommendation. TCU is situated in the Dallas/Fort Worth metropolitan area in close proximity to state, local and federal criminal justice agencies and institutions. Review of applications will begin on October 1 and will continue until position is filled. Send materials to Ronald Burns, Search Committee Chair, Department of Sociology, Criminal Justice and Anthropology, Texas Christian University, Box 298710, Fort Worth, TX 76129; r.burns@tcu.edu. Official transcripts will be required before appointment. TCU is an AA/EEO employer.

TEXAS STATE UNIVERSITY AT SAN MARCOS
Texas State University at San Marcos – Criminal Justice Department is seeking a tenure-track Assistant Professor. The area of specialization is open, but preference will be given to qualified applicants with cultural diversity in teaching and research goals. Qualified applicants will have a Ph.D. in Criminal Justice or a closely related field at the time of appointment or soon thereafter; a J.D. will not be considered a sufficient terminal degree. Salary range is competitive. Application deadline is December 1, 2004 with a start date of August, 2005. Applicants should submit a letter of application, vita, and a list of three references to Joyce Pollack, Search Committee Chair, Department of Criminal Justice, Texas State University, 601 University Drive, San Marcos, Texas 78666. Closing date is December 1, 2004.

ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY
Saint Louis University, a Catholic, Jesuit institution dedicated to education, research and healthcare, is seeking applicants for the position of Chair of the Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice. We seek an applicant with a strong science background and demonstrated administrative abilities to preside over a growing, multifield department with a young, talented and energetic faculty whose interests transcend traditional disciplinary and thematic boundaries. The new chair will be expected to take a leadership role in the mentoring of younger faculty, developing new research opportunities, working closely with the directors of our undergraduate and graduate programs, and expanding avenues of communication and collaboration among our diverse units. Applicants with a strong social justice orientation are especially welcome. The candidate should have a Ph.D. in Sociology, Criminal Justice or Anthropology and a significant record of scholarly activity suitable for appointment at the rank of Professor. Individuals at the advanced level of Associate Professor will be considered. The department offers a B.A. in Sociology and a B.A. in Criminal Justice; minors in Anthropology, Criminal Justice, and Sociology; a certificate in Forensic Science; and a newly established M.A. in the Administration of Justice. Saint Louis University is classified as a Research Extensive Institution by the Carnegie Foundation. Salary and rank will be commensurate with experience and qualifications. To apply, send a letter of application addressing research, teaching and administrative philosophies, curriculum vitae, repr resentative publications, and arrange to have 3 letters of reference sent to: Search Committee Chair, Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice, Saint Louis University, 3500 Lindell Blvd, St. Louis, MO 63103. Review of applications will begin November 15, 2004; however, applications will continue to be accepted until the position is filled. Saint Louis University is an Affirmative Action, Equal Opportunity Employer, and encourages nominations of and applications from women and minorities.

UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY
The School of Criminal Justice invites applications for one or two faculty positions to begin Fall 2005. Rank is open depending upon qualifications. A Ph.D. in criminal justice or a related discipline is required, and candidates must have a demonstrated potential for excellence in teaching and research. The School of Criminal Justice has an internationally renowned doctoral program, offers a comprehensive MA program, and provides a select group of undergraduates the opportunity to earn the BA in criminal justice. The University at Albany is one of the four University Centers of the State University of New York. Its approximately 17,000 students include some 5000 graduate students, and its full-time faculty numbers about 700. Albany, the capital of New York, is in a metropolitan area with a population of approximately 800,000. Located in beautiful upstate New York, it is in close proximity to the Berkshires, the Catskills, the Adirondacks, and the Hudson River Valley and is also convenient to Boston, Montreal, and New York City. Candidates should send a statement of research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae and three letters of reference to Professor David McDowell, Chair, Search Committee, School of Criminal Justice, University at Albany, SUNY, 135 Western Avenue, Albany, NY 12222. Review of applications will begin September 15, 2004 and will continue until the position is filled.

The University at Albany is an EEO/AA/IRCA/ADA employer. Faculty candidates are expected to have the demonstrated ability to work with and/or instruct diverse groups of people.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, IRVINE
The Department of Criminology, Law and Society invites applications for two faculty positions, rank open, to begin in Fall 2005. We anticipate hiring one senior (tenured) and one junior (tenure-track) faculty member. We seek scholars with an innovative research program in any area of Criminology, Law and Society. A successful senior candidate will have an outstanding record of scholarship and teaching, while a successful junior candidate will show promise of superb scholarship and creative approaches to teaching. For appointments at an advanced Assistant Professor rank or at the Associate Professor or Professor ranks, evidence of success in securing extramural funding to support research and graduate students is desired. Applicants should send a letter of interest, a current CV, and three letters of reference to: Search Committee, Department of Criminology, Law and Society, School of Social Ecology, University of California, Irvine, 92697-7080. The Committee will begin reviewing applications on November 15, 2004.

UNIVERSITY OF DENTON
The Department of Sociology and Criminology invites applications from individuals with expertise in criminology for a tenure-track position as Assistant Professor beginning Fall 2005. We seek candidates who possess evidence of, or the potential for developing, a strong record in scholarship and teaching. A PhD is required. We are a department of active, productive scholars with strong ties to the University’s Law School, Graduate School of Social Work, and other professional schools. The University of Denver is a selective, private university consisting of approximately 4000 undergraduates. The department offers BA degrees in sociology and criminology. Salary is competitive. Send letter of interest (including e-mail address), curriculum vitae, 3 letters of recommendation, a sample of scholarship, and evidence of teaching excellence to: Paul Colomy--Recruitment Chair, Department of Sociology and Criminology, University of Denver, 2000 E. Asbury Ave., Denver, CO 80208-2948. Applications are due by October 4, 2004. The Search Committee is available to meet with interested candidates during the upcoming ASA meetings; if interested, send e-mail to commendation, a sample of scholarship, and evidence of teaching excellence to:
Paul Colomy--Recruitment Chair, Department of Sociology and Criminology, University of Denver, 2000 E. Asbury Ave., Denver, CO 80208-2948. Applications are due by October 4, 2004. The Search Committee is available to meet with interested candidates during the upcoming ASA meetings; if interested, send e-mail to pcolomy@du.edu. The University of Denver is committed to enhancing the diversity of its faculty and staff and encourages applications particularly from women, minorities, people with disabilities, and veterans. University of Denver is an EEO/AA Employer. Visit our website at www.du.edu/sociology.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO
Tenure-Track Assistant Professor of Justice Studies Position. University of Idaho has one tenure-track, full-time Assistant Professor of Justice Studies position available for the 2005-2006 academic year beginning August 22, 2005. Minimum of a Ph.D. in Sociology with an emphasis in Criminology, or in Criminal Justice is required by time of appointment. This position is responsible for teaching five courses a year, conducting research and publishing in refereed journals, and student academic advising. Priorities in our teaching needs are someone who can expand our curriculum with their specialty area, Introduction to the Justice System, and Research Methods. All substantive areas of research will be considered, yet we prefer someone with specialties in quantitative and/or survey methods. See our website at www.class.uidaho.edu/soc_anthro/ for additional information. Successful teaching experience at a four-year institution of higher education is preferred. The University is located near excellent and uncrowded areas for hiking, skiing, white water rafting, fishing, mountain biking, etc. Moscow also has been rated among the top arts communities in the nation. Apply on-line at http://www.webs.uidaho.edu/AppTrack/agency/applicant/login.asp. Send letter of application describing teaching and research experience, particularly as they relate to the above listed areas; curriculum vitae; three letters of reference; and copies of teaching evaluations to Eric L. Jensen, Chair, Search Committee, Department of Sociology/Anthropology/Justice Studies, University of Idaho; P.O. Box 441110, Moscow, ID 83844-1110. Screening of applications will begin October 1, 2004 and will continue until the position is filled. To enrich education through diversity the University of Idaho is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND
Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice, University of Maryland Assistant Professor
General Description: The Department seeks applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position. Minorities and women are strongly encouraged to apply. To learn more about our department see www.bsos.umd.edu/CCJIS.
Qualifications: Ph.D. in Criminology and/or Criminal Justice or related social sciences field is required. A record of recognized scholarship and a strong commitment to research and teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels is recommended. Specialty areas are open. To Apply: Applicants should submit a resume and the names, addresses, and phone numbers of three references to: Dr. Sally S. Simpson, Professor and Chair, University of Maryland, Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice, 2220 LeFrak Hall College Park, MD 20742. For best consideration, applications must be received by November 1, 2004. The University of Maryland is an Equal Opportunity / Affirmative Action Employer. Minorities and women are encouraged to apply.

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA
Full Professor.
Specialization--We seek candidates with a Ph.D. in criminology, criminal justice or related social science who have strong records of scholarly research and demonstrated achievements in teaching and service. Areas of specialization are open. University Website--http://www.sc.edu Department Website--http://www.cla.sc.edu/CRJU/ Contact Person: Pamela Lattimore, CRJUsearch@gwm.sc.edu Position Description: The Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice at the University of South Carolina invites applications for the position of full professor beginning Fall, 2005. We seek candidates with a Ph.D. in criminology, criminal justice or related social science who have strong records of scholarly research and demonstrated achievements in teaching and service. Areas of specialization are open. Salary will be commensurate with experience and negotiable. The University of South Carolina is located in Columbia, the state capital, and offers abundant research opportunities with a variety of criminal justice agencies. Applicants should send a letter describing their research and teaching interests, curriculum vitae, and three names of individuals who will be willing to write letters of reference to: Dr. Pamela K. Lattimore, Chair, Search Committee, Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice, University of South Carolina, Columbia, SC 29208. The Search Committee will begin to review applications on September 15, 2004, and will continue to accept them until a suitable candidate is selected. Applications received by October 1 are assured full consideration. The University of South Carolina is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer; women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply.

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT ARLINGTON
The Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice (CRCJ) at the University of Texas at Arlington (UTA) seeks to fill a new tenure-track position at the Assistant/Associate Professor rank, starting August 2005. An earned Ph.D. in criminology/criminal justice or closely related discipline is required at time of appointment. Highly qualified ABD's will be considered. Candidates should have a demonstrated commitment to research, teaching, service and grantmanship. Applicants must be qualified to teach CRCJ undergraduate and graduate courses with area of specialization open. In addition to an active research agenda, the position requires teaching five courses per academic year, sufficient qualifications to be appointed as a graduate faculty member, and participation in various service opportunities. UT Arlington is a Carnegie I doctoral extensive university located in the heart of the Dallas/Ft. Worth Metroplex with a population of five million. It is the second largest university in the UT Sysystem with approximately 25,000 students, and offers access to a wide array of federal, state, and local agencies. The CRCJ Department is one of the fastest growing units on campus and offers B.A. and M.S. degrees as well as an online completion degree. The Department currently hosts the ACIS Today newsletter. Please send a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, representative copies of publications, and three letters of reference to: O. Elmer Polk, Search Chair, Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice, The University of Texas at Arlington, Box 19595, Arlington, TX 76019-0595. Review of applications will begin on November 15, 2004 and continue until the position is filled. Please address inquiries to epolk@uta.edu or call 817/272-3318. The University of Texas at Arlington is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer.

UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING
The Department of Criminal Justice invites applications for a full-time tenure-track assistant professor position starting Fall Semester, 2005. Candidates must have a Ph.D. in Criminal Justice or a Ph.D. in a closely related field. (Exceptional A.B.D. candidates may be considered for hire at the instructor level pending timely completion of the Ph.D.) Qualified candidates are encouraged to apply, although a Ph.D. in Criminal Justice with primary teaching and research interests in law enforcement, criminal justice management, or legal studies is preferred. We are seeking a faculty member who is committed to quality undergraduate teaching in both on-campus and off-campus (using distance technology) programs; developing and maintaining a high-quality research and publishing agenda; performing student advising and professional service to the university, community, and academic profession. Salary and teaching load are competitive. To apply, please forward a letter of interest highlighting how you meet the job description, curriculum vitae, the names, addresses and telephone numbers of three references, and other supporting materials (samples of published works/conference papers and statement of research potential; statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and/or course syllabi) to be sent to: Cheryl C. Burnett, Search Committee Chair, Department of Criminal Justice, 1000 E. University Avenue, Department 3197, Laramie, WY 82071. Review of completed applications will begin October 15, 2004. The University of Wyoming is an AA/EOE employer.

WAYNE STATE UNIVERSITY
The Department of Criminal Justice at Wayne State University invites applications for an Assistant or Associate tenure track faculty position beginning Fall 2005. Rank and salary are commensurate with qualifications. Applicants must have a Ph.D. or be ABD from a program in Criminal Justice, Criminology, Sociology, Psychology or a related field at the time of appointment. Primary consideration will be given to applicants with a completed Ph.D. and demonstrated excellence in research and teaching. The teaching load in our Department is four courses per academic year. We are seeking a generalist in Criminal Justice or Criminology, with a preference for research and teaching expertise in corrections and issues relating to women or minorities. Review of applications will begin November 15, 2004, although the search will remain open until the position is filled. Send a letter of application, vitae, three letters of recommendation, sample publications, and evidence of teaching effectiveness to Dr. Joe Rankin, Chair, Department of Criminal Justice, 2307 Faculty/Administration Building, Wayne State University, Detroit, MI, 48202. Wayne State University is one of Michigan’s three comprehensive research universities, with the main campus located in the heart of Detroit’s University Cultural Center. Minorities and women are strongly encouraged to apply. Wayne State University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer.

VERA INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE
Andrew W. Mellon Foundation/Veria Institute of Justice Postdoctoral Fellowship On Race, Crime, and Justice. Applications are now available for this fellowship, which encourages new scholars of diverse backgrounds to work and publish in this important field. One fellowship is awarded each year for a two-year residency at the Vera Institute in New York. Fellows receive a generous annual salary and benefits plus research and travel allowances to pursue a scholarly project of their own design while gaining experience in policy-oriented research and writing. Applicants must have completed a doctorate within seven years of applying for the fellowship or be completing it by summer 2005. Applications are due October 22, 2004, with the residency to start in summer or fall 2005. Details and an application are available at www.tera.org/mellon, or contact Pamela Guthrie, Research Department Coordinator, Vera Institute of Justice, 233 Broadway, 12th Floor, New York, NY 10279; e-mail: pguthrie@vera.org; fax: 212/941-9407, to request a brochure and application.

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS OF THE PERMIAN BASIN
For the Fall 2005 semester, The University of Texas of the Permian Basin (UTPB), a component of the University of Texas System, seeks to fill a tenure position in its Criminology/Criminal Justice program at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor. To be considered for the rank of Assistant Professor, a candidate must have a doctorate (ABD’s near completion will be considered), evidence of high quality teaching, and evidence that he/she will be productive in research/scholarship. To be considered for the rank of Associate Professor, a candidate must also have a significant record of accomplishment in externally funded research or scholarship. The successful candidate will have the ability to teach statistics and research methods at the undergraduate and graduate levels, the ability to supervise student research, and a willingness to teach online courses (prior experience is valued and will be considered). Prior employment in the criminal justice system is a plus. The Criminology/Criminal Justice program offers a B.A. in Criminology, an M.S. in Criminal Justice Administration, and participates in an online consortium with three other University of Texas campuses in offering the B.S. in Criminal Justice. Please send a letter of application, c.v., the names, addresses, and phone numbers of three references and transcripts to: Richard G. Kiekbusch, Chair, Criminology Search Committee, University of Texas at the Permian Basin, 4901 E. University Blvd., Odessa, TX 79762-0001; telephone (432) 552-2357; e-mail keikbusch_r@utpb.edu. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled. Electronic submissions are welcome. UTPB is an AA/EOE Employer.
LONGWOOD UNIVERSITY
Assistant Professor, Criminology/Criminal Justice Longwood University invites applications for the following full-time, tenure-track faculty position to begin August 2005. The University prides itself on maintaining small class sizes and a close working relationship among students and faculty. Faculty members typically teach four courses per semester and are expected to advise effectively, to make service contributions, and to engage in scholarship and professional activity. Applicants must possess a Ph.D. in Criminology, Criminal Justice, or Sociology; ABD with a firm defense date will be considered. While areas of specialization for this general criminologist position are open, the department is particularly interested in applicants with expertise in law enforcement, sociology of law, or the courts. Although undergraduate teaching is the primary emphasis in the department and university, applicants should be willing to teach in the master's program of sociology, concentration in criminal justice. To apply send a letter of application, vita, statement of teaching philosophy and research goals, transcripts, and contact information for three references to: Criminology Search Committee Chair, Department of Sociology, Anthropology and Criminal Justice Studies, Longwood University, 201 High Street, Farmville, VA 23909. Application review begins November 1, 2004. For the seventh straight year, Longwood University is ranked among the best in the 2005 U.S. News & World Report "America's Best Colleges" annual survey. Longwood is ranked as one of the "Top Public Universities *Masters's" in the South. For more information on Longwood, visit www.longwood.edu. Equal Opportunity/ Affirmative Action Employer: Diversifying our workforce is an important part of our strategic plan.

ST. THOMAS AQUINAS COLLEGE
The Division of Social Sciences invites applications for Assistant Professor of Criminology/Sociology, tenure-track. Position will begin Fall 2005, but the search will remain open until a successful candidate is identified. The chosen candidate will be expected to take an active role in the growth of the criminal justice major. Directions in which the Division wishes to expand the major may include but are not limited to: terrorism, private security, domestic violence, urban criminology, and global issues in criminal justice. Minimum qualifications for the position are a Ph.D. in criminology or sociology and college level teaching experience. The course load is 4 three-credit sections per semester and may include introductory sociology. The successful candidate should approach criminology from a critical perspective and have a background in sociological theory, qualitative field methods, and ethnography. Priority will be given to candidates who demonstrate they can combine applied and theoretical emphases in their teaching. St. Thomas Aquinas College is an equal opportunity employer. Candidates representing diverse ethnic and cultural backgrounds are encouraged to apply. The College is a private, independent college. Its location, 20 minutes by car northwest of New York City, provides exciting opportunities for living and research. Please send curriculum vitae, cover letter, 3 letters of reference, sample syllabi, and a Statement of Teaching Philosophy by November 30, 2004 to: Dr. Joseph Coyne, Chair, Division of Social Sciences, St. Thomas Aquinas College, 125 Route 340, Sparkill, NY 10976.

UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA - LAS VEGAS
The Department of Criminal Justice at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas invites applications for two assistant professor positions, beginning Fall 2005. Both are full-time, 9-month, tenure-track positions. The responsibilities include teaching undergraduate and undergraduate courses, including in a newly created Ph.D. in Public Affairs. For one position, the Department is particularly interested in applicants with expertise in criminological theory, women and crime, or victimization. For the second, we seek applicants with a specialization in criminal law and procedure or other law-related areas. However, for both positions, other areas will be considered. A Ph.D. in the social or behavioral sciences from an accredited college or university is required. Evidence of teaching effectiveness is preferred. Candidates will be expected to sustain an active program of scholarly research, teach at the undergraduate and graduate level, and participate in service activities within the department, college, university, and profession. Salary is competitive; contingent upon labor market. Position is contingent on funding. Application materials must include a current resume, detailed cover letter, and names, addresses, and telephone numbers of three professional references who may be contacted. Applicants should fully describe qualifications and experience, since the initial review will serve to evaluate applicants based on documented, relevant qualifications and professional work experience. The review of materials will begin November 1, 2004. Materials should be addressed to Dr. Randall Shelden, Search Committee Chair, and are to be submitted via an on-line application at https://hresearch.unlv.edu. For assistance with UNLV's on-line applicant portal, contact Bob Sitts at (702) 895-1635 or email hresearch@ccmail.nevada.edu.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTHERN COLORADO
Lecturer of Criminal Justice – Position 21975
Qualifications and Experience: Candidates should be ABD or have an earned Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, Criminology, or related field. Ability to teach in at least two of the following areas is necessary: Introduction to Criminal Justice, Policing Systems, Judicial Process, Ethics, Victimology, Comparative Justice Systems or Justice Research & Statistics. Specialization in policing systems is highly desirable. An interest in developing on-line components for courses is desirable. Possibilities exist to create new courses in the successful applicant's areas of special research or teaching interest. Will be expected to advise undergraduate students, be involved in department, college, and community services. Candidate is expected to engage in an active program of research. Position Description: Candidates are sought for a full-time, nine-month term appointment in the Department of Criminal Justice with the possibility of renewal and summer appointment. Primary responsibilities include teaching/advising, research, and service. The undergraduate degree is a Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice with an interdisciplinary approach. Courses are taught by Criminal Justice faculty and faculty in other programs. Salary and Benefits: Commensurate with qualifications and experience. Benefits include health, life, and dental insurance as well as a selection of several defined contribution retirement programs. Starting Date: August 15, 2005. Contact and Application Deadline: Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts, and the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references. Additional materials will also be accepted. Review is ongoing and will continue until a suitable candidate is found. Application materials should be sent to: Colleen Fitzpatrick, Ph.D., Chair, Criminal Justice Search Committee Campus Box 147, Department of Criminal Justice, University of Northern Colorado, Greeley, CO 80639. Fax 970-351-1255 colleen.fitzpatrick@unco.edu. Federal regulations require that the University retain all documents submitted by applicants. Materials will not be returned or copied for applicants. Location and Environment: The University of Northern Colorado is a Research Intensive Institution enrolling 11,380 graduate and undergraduate students. The University, founded in 1889, is located in the City of Greeley, which has a growing population of 76,250. Greeley is an hour north of Denver and 55 miles east of the Rocky Mountains. Further information about UNC and Greeley is available at http://www.unco.edu. This position is contingent on funding from the Colorado State Legislature, approval by the Board of Trustees, and subject to the policies and regulations of the University of Northern Colorado. The University of Northern Colorado is an AAEO employer and is committed to fostering diversity in its student body, faculty and staff.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTHERN COLORADO
Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice – Position #20003
Candidates should be ABD or have an earned Ph.D. in Criminal Justice, Criminology, or a related field. Ability to teach in at least two of the following areas is necessary: Introduction to Criminal Justice, Policing Systems, Judicial Process, Ethics, Victimization, Comparative Justice Systems or Justice Research & Statistics. Specialization in policing systems is highly desirable. An interest in developing on-line components for courses is desirable. Possibilities exist to create new courses in the successful applicant’s areas of special research or teaching interest. Will be expected to advise undergraduate students, be involved in department, college, and community services. Candidate is expected to engage in an active program of research. Position Description: Candidates are sought for a full-time, nine-month appointment in the Department of Criminal Justice with the possibility of renewal and summer appointment. Primary responsibilities include teaching/advising, research, and service. The undergraduate degree is a Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice with an interdisciplinary approach. Courses are taught by Criminal Justice faculty and faculty in other programs. Salary and Benefits: Commensurate with qualifications and experience. Benefits include health, life, and dental insurance as well as a selection of several defined contribution retirement programs. Starting Date: August 15, 2005. Contact and Application Deadline: Applicants should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, transcripts, and the names, addresses, telephone numbers, and email addresses of three references. Additional materials will also be accepted. Review is ongoing and will continue until a suitable candidate is found. Application materials should be sent to: Colleen Fitzpatrick, Ph.D., Chair, Criminal Justice Search Committee Campus Box 147, Department of Criminal Justice, University of Northern Colorado Greeley, CO 80639. Fax 970-351-1255 colleen.fitzpatrick@unco.edu. Federal regulations require that the University retain all documents submitted by applicants. Materials will not be returned or copied for applicants. Location and Environment: The University of Northern Colorado is a Research Intensive Institution enrolling 11,380 graduate and undergraduate students. The University, founded in 1889, is located in the City of Greeley, which has a growing population of 76,250. Greeley is an hour north of Denver and 55 miles east of the Rocky Mountains. Further information about UNC and Greeley is available at http://www.unco.edu. This position is contingent on funding from the Colorado State Legislature, approval by the Board of Trustees, and subject to the policies and regulations of the University of Northern Colorado. The University of Northern Colorado is an AAEO employer and is committed to fostering diversity in its student body, faculty and staff.

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT DALLAS
The Crime and Justice Studies program at The University of Texas at Dallas invites applications for multiple tenure-track, sen-ior-rank faculty positions to begin fall 2005. We seek to hire a group of colleagues to join a growing undergraduate program in Crime and Justice Studies and to hire a proposed Ph.D. in criminology, which will be in place by fall 2005. We are seeking broadly trained criminologists. While areas of specialization are open, some preference will be given to applicants with a demonstrated proficiency in core areas of criminology such as causes and correlates, race and ethnicity, gender, criminal careers, and crime and justice policy. There is a strong possibility to make multiple hires in a substantive area so as to assemble a critical mass of faculty therein. Applicants must hold a Ph.D. in Criminology, Criminal Justice, Sociology, or a closely related discipline and a current rank of at least Associate Professor or the equivalent. Applicants must have a strong publication and teaching record, an active research agenda, and strong potential for securing funding for their research. The screening process will begin in October and continue until the positions are filled. To be considered, please send a letter of interest and curriculum vitae to: Academic Search #388, The University of Texas at Dallas, P. O. Box 830688, M/S AD 23, Richardson, TX 75083-0688. Indication of sex and ethnicity for affirmative action statistical purposes is requested as part of the application but not required. The University of Texas at Dallas is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and strongly encourages applications from candidates who would enhance the diversity of the University’s faculty.

MIDDLE TENNESSEE STATE UNIVERSITY
Tenure-track position (No. 121060) available for Fall, 2005. Terminal degree in criminal justice or related areas or J.D. with additional graduate degree expected by appointment date. Area of specialization open. Commitment to excellence in teaching, research/creative activity, publication, and service is expected. Candidates are expected to be technologically literate. Send curriculum vitae, transcripts and three letters of recommendation to:
Dr. Lance Selva, Search Committee Chair, Box 238, Middle Tennessee State University, Murfreesboro, TN 37132.
Review of applications will begin October 25, 2004 and will continue until position is filled. MTSU is an AA/EEO Employer.

WHEELING JESUIT UNIVERSITY
Wheeling Jesuit University is accepting applications for a tenure-track position, pending budgetary approval, in Political Science at the Assistant Professor/Instructor rank. Applicants should be able to teach introductory and upper-level courses in Criminal Justice and be committed to undergraduate education. Candidates who have a teaching and research interest in International Studies and/or the law and legal systems are strongly encouraged to apply. The Ph.D (in Criminal Justice or Political Science) is preferred, but ABD’s will be considered.
Wheeling Jesuit University is a Catholic Jesuit institution committed to educating students to be life-long learners, leaders and men and women for others. Situated on the Ohio River 50 miles south of Pittsburgh, Wheeling, WV is an old Victorian city that is a particularly agreeable place to live and raise a family, with good schools and extensive cultural and recreational activities. With 1,500 students, Wheeling Jesuit University has been ranked among the top 15 universities in the southeastern region of the United States by US News & World Reports.
Wheeling Jesuit University is strongly committed to increasing the diversity of its campus community. Qualified women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply. To apply, please send a letter of application, a vita and three (3) letters of recommendation by November 15, 2004 to the Director of Human Resources, Wheeling Jesuit University, 316 Washington Avenue, Wheeling, WV 26003. For further information on Wheeling Jesuit University, please consult our web page at www.wju.edu. AA/EOE.

KENNESAW STATE UNIVERSITY
Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice
Department of Sociology, Geography, Anthropology and Criminal Justice
Kennesaw State University, located in a beautiful suburban setting 30 miles north of downtown Atlanta, is accepting applications for two tenure-track faculty positions to begin August 2005. This multidisciplinary department has over 250 Criminal Justice majors. The Criminal Justice degree offers concentrations in three areas: Criminal Justice Administration, Forensic Behavioral Sciences and Technology & Crime. The successful candidate must demonstrate quality teaching effectiveness, potential of scholarship, commitment to program development efforts, including student academic advising, and willingness to participate in service to the campus, discipline and community. An ability and willingness to work collaboratively within a multi-disciplinary department is essential. Qualifications include a doctorate in Criminal Justice, Sociology or a related field. ABD candidates should expect to have the Ph.D. by the time of appointment. The candidate must be able to teach at least four of the following courses: introductory criminal justice course, criminology, international crime/criminal justice, criminal procedure, corrections, ethics, forensic behavioral sciences, security, and policing. Familiarity with online teaching will be given preference. The successful candidate must be available to teach some night and weekend classes. KSU has established a notable record for the inclusion of minorities and women in its educational mission and strongly encourages applications from both groups. Applicants should submit a letter of application addressing strengths relative to the qualifications and responsibilities of the position, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of scholarship and professional service activity, current curriculum vita, copy of all transcripts (official transcripts required upon employment), and names, telephone numbers and email addresses of 3 references. All material should be sent to Dr. Rebecca Petersen, Search Committee Chair, Department of Sociology, Geography, Anthropology and Criminal Justice, Kennesaw State University, 1000 Chastain Rd., Kennesaw, Georgia 30144-5591. Telephone number is 770-420-4732 or e-mail address at rpetersen@kennesaw.edu. In order to ensure consideration for the position, applications must be received by November 15, 2004. Applications sent on-line will not be considered. The position will remain open until filled. For further information about the department, you may access our web site at http://www.kennesaw.edu/sga
Date Position Available: August 2005
Kennesaw State University, a member of the University System of Georgia, does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, sex, age, handicap, national origin, or sexual orientation, as authorized by law. Georgia is an Open Records State. AA/EOE.

CALL FOR PAPERS

WESTERN SOCIETY OF CRIMINOLOGY
February 17-19, 2005
Honolulu, Hawaii

Theme: “Meeting the Challenge: Translating Research Into Practice”. Deadline for abstract submissions Nov. 1, 2004. See http://www.sonoma.edu/cja/wsc/ Wscmain.html or contact Program Chair Sue Cote at scote@csus.edu for further information.

1st INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE OF THE EUROPEAN AND INTER-NATIONAL RESEARCH GROUP ON CRIME, ETHICS AND SOCIAL PHILOSOPHY (ERCES)

April 21-23, 2005
St. Petersburg, Russia

CHAIR
DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY, SOCIAL WORK & CRiminology

Morehead State University, a comprehensive public university located in the northeast Appalachian region of the Commonwealth of Kentucky serving 9500 students, invites applications for the position of Chair of the Department of Sociology, Social Work & Criminology beginning in July 2005.

Responsibilities: The Chair leads a large academic unit comprised of over 20 faculty and staff serving approximately 400 undergraduate majors and 20 graduate students in departmental programs. Programs within the department include undergraduate majors in social work, sociology and sociology with an emphasis in criminology; minors in social work and criminology; and, a graduate program in sociology with emphases in criminology or gerontology. The Department also offers the social work program at one extended campus center and is planning to offer it at a second center. There are also collaborative program offerings with the Institute for Regional Analysis and Public Policy, the Institute for Correctional Research and Training, the Women's Studies and International Education Interdisciplinary Programs, and the University of Kentucky's Master of Social Work program. Specific responsibilities include overseeing curriculum design; course scheduling; faculty development and evaluation; student recruitment and retention; equipment and facilities management; strategic planning, budgeting and program assessment; technology integration; distance learning; grant project management and fund raising; and alumni networking. The Chair is granted a 12-month contract and assigned a 12-hour per year teaching load.

Qualifications: A Ph.D. in sociology, social work, criminology or a doctorate degree in a related area. Evidence of progressive academic leadership and management experience; a record of excellence in teaching, scholarly productivity and service; commitment to the mission of offering quality general education courses; ability to work with faculty within a shared governance framework; commitment to technology integration, distance learning, grant-writing and private fund raising.

Desired Qualifications: Experience in integrating technology in classroom instruction; developing and offering courses and programs on-line or by compressed video; securing external grants; experience in private fund raising and alumni networking.

Review of applications will begin November 15, 2004 and will continue until position is filled. To apply, submit letter of application, curriculum vitae, names and contact information of five references including addresses, telephone numbers and e-mail addresses to: Office of Human Resources. Attn: Chair #1077, Morehead State University, HM 101, Morehead, KY 40351. To complete the MSU Application, visit: http://www.moreheadstate.edu/prospects/jobapp.html. MSU is an EO/AA employer.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE
(Tenure-Track)

The Pennsylvania State University, the Altoona College, invites applications for a tenure-track position in Criminal Justice, beginning in Fall 2005. Candidates should have a doctorate in Criminal Justice or related field and be able to teach introductory courses in criminal justice, research methods, and criminal justice courses within the candidate’s specialty. Research specialization is open. Candidates should have a strong commitment to teaching, advising, and working with undergraduates and colleagues in a small developing program. Only 40 miles from the University Park campus, Altoona College offers the advantages of small college teaching with the readily available resources of a major research university. Penn State Altoona offers a competitive salary and an attractive benefits package.

Applicants should send a letter of application; a current vita; a teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching effectiveness; a statement of research interests; transcripts; and a resume of three letters of reference. Applicants are strongly encouraged to submit their applications and accompanying materials electronically to academicaffairs@psu.edu in Word or PDF formats. Review of applications will begin the week of November 1, 2004, and continue until the position is filled. Initial interviews will be conducted at the ASC meeting, November 17-20, 2004; but all applicants will be considered.

Non-electronic applications should be sent to:
Chair Search Committee for Criminal Justice
Penn State Altoona
Box B-17973
3000 Ivyside Park
Altoona, PA 16601-3760

For additional information about Penn State Altoona, please visit our web page at http://www.aa.psu.edu.

Penn State is committed to affirmative action, equal opportunity and the diversity of its workforce.

PENN STATE Making Life Better
PREPARING COMMUNITY CORRECTIONS FOR 21ST CENTURY CHALLENGES:
HOW YOU CAN HELP
A Project of the National Institute of Corrections and the Center for Innovative Public Policies, Inc.

Overcrowded prisons and jails have captured widespread attention. But the less visible dilemmas of community corrections often languish quietly in the background. Yet despite the fact that over 3 out of 4 adults under correctional supervision are on probation or parole (Press Release, 2004:1), the budgets of community corrections have actually been declining in relation to other justice agencies (DiMascio, 1997:6).

Beyond insufficient resources, this growth is occurring in an environment of changing social and political expectations. Community corrections personnel are expected to be “rule-enforcers,” closely monitoring clients and recommending violation for infractions. But they also have a mandate to link clients with needed resources—from education and training to health care and transportation. These contradictory roles of “surveillance” versus “support” are not new (Stinchcomb, in press). Today, however, role conflict is occurring in the midst of not only escalating demands and declining resources, but also within the political context of a new era of evidence-based accountability (MacKenzie, 2000: 463), organizational decentralization, and employee empowerment (Domurand, 2000: 41-51).

These are a lot of challenges and changes. Moreover, they have implications for virtually every aspect of community corrections—from who will be recruited and selected to how they will be trained, supervised, retained, and developed for promotion. Today’s entry-level employees will be tomorrow’s leaders. But one does not prepare for the future overnight. So the question is how probation and parole can best develop a future workforce capable of meeting these challenges and changes.

The National Institute of Corrections (NIC) is attempting to address this issue through a project examining 21st century workforce needs in community corrections. Specifically, it focuses on the ability of agencies to meet new recruitment, selection, retention, and career advancement demands.

A key part of this effort that involves you includes identifying:

Colleges and universities that have collaborative partnerships with community corrections agencies. Examples might include creative internship programs, entry-level certification, promotional preparation, co-op education, leadership development, and the like.

Do you have written examples of such community corrections initiatives? If so, please contact Dr. Jeanne Stinchcomb, Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice, Florida Atlantic University, (954-762-5138; e-mail: stinchco@fau.edu).

Practices that offer promise for meeting 21st century workforce demands will be included in an administrative guidebook produced by NIC. With such resources, the dilemmas of community corrections can begin to move from the background to the forefront of attention, action, and accomplishment.

REFERENCES:

British Society of Criminology Annual Conference
2-14 July 2005, hosted by the University of Leeds

"Re-Awakening the Criminological Imagination"

Plenary Speakers: Richard Ericson (University of Toronto), Mike Levi (Cardiff University), Tim Newburn (London School of Economics), Lucia Zedner (University of Oxford).

Special Sessions to include: Zygmunt Bauman, Carol Smart, Public and Popular Representations of Crime.

Contact: BSC2005@leeds.ac.uk, BSC Conference Office, Centre for Criminal Justice Studies, School of Law, University of Leeds, Leeds, LS2 9JT Web-site: http://www.leeds.ac.uk/law/bsc2005/

The Organising Committee would like to encourage the submission of papers in a broad range of areas within, and at the boundaries of, Criminology but would particularly like to receive papers related to the following themes:

Age and Crime
Beyond Professional Justice
Commodification of Security and Justice
Cultural Criminology
Cybercrimes
Drugs, Crime and Criminal Justice
Geographies of Crime
Globalisation of Deviance
Governing Anti-Social Behaviour

Green Criminology
Histories of Crime and Justice
Race, Crime and Criminal Justice
Social Exclusion and Crime Control
State Crimes
Surveillance and Society
Terrorism, Contency and Risk
Violence and the Body

Proposals to organise other streams or panels are welcomed and should be submitted to the Conference Administrator, as should papers that fall outside the above themes.

CALL FOR PARTICIPATION
Seventh Annual Conference -
JUSTICE STUDIES ASSOCIATION
June 2-4, 2005 - University of Hartford, CT

WHAT? Members of the Justice Studies Association are pleased to announce a call for participation for their seventh annual conference scheduled for Thursday, June 2 to Saturday, June 4 at the University of Hartford. The theme of the 2005 conference is The Birth of a New World: Creating Justice-For-All, Sustainable Communities.

Participants are invited to make presentations on any topic dealing with communities, justice systems, families, schools, and workplaces of the future—a world in which the needs of all are met. Presentations might focus on:
(1) the human community's re-orienting itself to a healthful relationship with the environment and natural world;
(2) gender, class, race, globalization, and crime;
(3) marginalization and the transformation of corporate-transnational and nation-state policies;
(4) sustainable agriculture, sustainable development, and communities of resistance;
(5) critiques of the corporate media and social sciences (criminology, sociology, psychology) for masking the most devastating forms of violence to social life, and assisting in the repression of human consciousness and speech; and
(6) restorative justice, peaceful conflict resolution programs, sustainable indigenous economies, enjoyable work, alternative family and living arrangements in just communities.

WHERE? The conference will be held at the University of Hartford. The rate for room, breakfast, lunch, and afternoon snack is $85 per day. Registration fee before April 15th is $90 for members ($120 after); $100 for non-members ($130 after); $60 for full-time students ($65 after). This includes coffee/tea breaks, evening social gatherings, and Friday's keynote luncheon.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS? Each conference has an opening and luncheon keynote speaker. These have included: Arundhati Roy, Noam Chomsky; Deborah Prothrow-Stith; David Gil; Daniel Berrigan, and Pat Humphries and Sandy Opatow.

AWARDS? Each year the association presents its Noam Chomsky Award and JSA Social Activist Award.

ACTIVIST CAFÉ? At one session a panel of activists from our host city addresses what the key justice concerns in that city and what they are doing to make things better.

HOW? Those wishing to make a presentation at the conference should send a title/abstract of circa 200 words to Dennis Sullivan, 2005 Program Chair, E-mail: gezellig@global2000.net before January 31, 2005. For more information on JSA or how to register, contact program chair or association president, Dan Okada (dokada@csus.edu) or log on at www.justicestudies.org
CALL FOR PAPERS

CRITICAL PERSPECTIVES IN CRIMINOLOGY
Critical Perspectives in Criminology will publish scholarly books and edited volumes that are critically conceived, theoretically animated, integratively focused, and policy oriented. We hope to identify and secure commitments from established authors and emerging talent in the field of criminology, including individuals whose disciplinary base is sociology, psychology, law, philosophy, history, psychiatry, political science, gender studies, and any of the other related social and behavioral sciences. Books in the Series will be aimed at the scholarly community, including library acquisitions and single purchases by academic researchers, as well as classroom adoption in upper division undergraduate and lower division graduate courses. Volumes in the Series will NOT be intended for use as undergraduate textbooks. Questions about the Series or submissions should be sent to: Bruce A. Arrigo, Ph.D., Series Editor, Critical Perspectives in Criminology, Department of Criminal Justice, University of North Carolina at Charlotte, 9201 University City Blvd., Charlotte, NC 28223-0001; Barrigo@email.uncc.edu - or - Kerry P. Callahan, Acquisitions Editor, University of Illinois Press, 1325 South Oak Street, Champaign, IL 61820; Kerrypc@uillinois.edu

CRIMINAL LAW BULLETIN
The Criminal Law Bulletin is a journal addressing legal aspects of criminal justice, including policing, adjudication, corrections, and delinquency. The journal welcomes manuscripts by researchers, practitioners, and advanced graduate students. The 2003 volume included articles by James Jacobs, William Bowers, and Hans Toch. Manuscripts of varying lengths (3,000-10,000 words) are published in 6 issues per year. Submissions should be sent on an IBM-compatible disk in WordPerfect or Microsoft Word format, double spaced, with any tables or charts at the end of the copy, and accompanied by a hard copy to: James E. Robertson, Editor-in-Chief & Professor of Corrections, 113 Armstrong Hall, Minnesota State University, Mankato, MN 56001; or, preferably, e-mailed to: james.robertson@mnsu.edu (please remember to include your name, title, affiliation, address, daytime telephone number, fax number and e-mail address). References and citations should conform to either the Uniform System of Citation (The Bluebook) or the Chicago Manual on Style. The Criminal Law Bulletin is published by West Group and marks its 40th anniversary in 2004.

JOURNAL OF CRIME AND JUSTICE
The Journal of Crime and Justice, the official journal of the Midwestern Criminal Justice Association, is soliciting manuscripts with original scholarship in the area of crime and criminal justice. JC&J welcomes qualitative and quantitative empirical work, theoretical commentaries, and book reviews. The emphasis of the journal is on quality and interest to criminologists as well as practitioners. If you would like to have your work considered for publication in the JC&J, please submit a cover letter, four copies of your manuscript, and a $10 check made out to the Journal of Crime and Justice to: Christopher J. Schreck, Editor, Journal of Crime and Justice, Department of Criminal Justice, Rochester Institute of Technology, 1 Lomb Memorial Drive, Rochester, NY 14623. For more information about the Journal of Crime and Justice, please visit the Journal's Homepage at: www.rit.edu/~cjsgcj.

A CRITICAL JOURNAL OF CRIME, LAW AND SOCIETY
The Justice Professional has been replaced by A CRITICAL JOURNAL OF CRIME, LAW AND SOCIETY, a refereed journal published quarterly by Routledge, Francis and Taylor Group. It is housed at the C. W. Post Campus of Long Island University, Department of Criminal Justice. The journal publishes articles that deal with substantive criminal justice and criminological issues, inviting both qualitative and quantitative papers. We welcome all articles relevant to areas of criminal justice as well as areas of public administration and public affairs. Literature review, summary report of innovative research projects, and research notes are all considered as well. MANUSCRIPT Typewritten, double spaced manuscripts must be submitted in quadruplicate (three blind copies) and sent to: Roslyn Muraskin, Ph.D., Editor, A Critical Journal of Crime, Law and Society, C.W.Post Campus – Post Hall 3C3, 720 Northern Blvd., Brookville NY 11548. An abstract of not more than 100 words, as well as a brief biographical statement describing the author's current affiliation and rank should accompany the manuscript along with the article on disk in Word. A CRITICAL JOURNAL regards submission to the journal as a commitment to publish herein. Permission for use of copyright material is the responsibility of the author. Manuscripts should not exceed 20 typewritten double spaced pages. All footnotes, references, tables, figures, illustrations must be camera ready on an eight and one half by eleven wide paper. Footnotes and bibliographic citations must follow the journal style based upon that followed the American Psychological Association (APA). Since manuscripts are sent out anonymously for editorial evaluation, the authors' name should appear on a separate cover sheet. Electronic copies are accepted and should be sent to Roslyn.Muraskin@liu.edu.
CALL FOR PAPERS

JOURNAL OF CONTEMPORARY CRIMINAL JUSTICE
Special Issue: Miscarriages of Criminal Justice (August 2005 issue)
The Journal of Contemporary Criminal Justice invites individuals to submit manuscripts for consideration for inclusion in a planned special issue on the topic, Miscarriages of Criminal Justice. The Guest Editor encourages submissions on all aspects of the subject but is especially interested in manuscripts that focus on why miscarriages occur and what can be done about them. Inquiries about the appropriateness of topics should be directed to Robert M. Bohm, JCCJ Guest Editor, via e-mail (rbohm@mail.ucf.edu) or telephone (407-823-5944). All manuscripts will be peer reviewed. Manuscripts should be no more than 25 typed, double-spaced pages including tables, figures and references. Manuscripts must be received no later than January 15, 2005. Please send four manuscript copies, along with the manuscript on disk, to Robert M. Bohm, Department of Criminal Justice and Legal Studies, University of Central Florida, Orlando, FL 32816.

TRENDS IN ORGANIZED CRIME
Trends in Organized Crime offers a composite of analyses and syntheses from a variety of information sources to serve the interests of both practitioners and policy makers as well as the academic community. It is both a stimulus to and a forum for more rigorous empirical research on organized crime, both nationally and internationally. Published four times a year, Trends in Organized Crime is the official journal of the International Association for the Study of Organized Crime (IASOC). It has a distinguished international editorial board. Trends publishes peer-reviewed, academically rigorous research, excerpts significant governmental reports; offers reviews of major new books, and, presents analyses and commentary on current issues in organized crime. Manuscripts must be submitted in English, in electronic form to <finckena@aol.com> as either ASCII, RTF or Word files. For further information, contact the Editor at the above addresses, or at 973-353-3301.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE REVIEW
The Criminal Justice Review is a biannual scholarly journal dedicated to presenting a broad perspective on criminal justice issues. It focuses on any aspect of crime and the justice system, and can feature local, state, or national concerns. Both qualitative and quantitative pieces are encouraged, providing that they adhere to standards of quality scholarship. As a peer-reviewed journal, we encourage the submission of articles, research notes, commentaries, and comprehensive essays that focus on crime and justice-related topics broadly defined. In addition to an electronic version of the manuscript submitted in either Microsoft Word or WordPerfect, five paper copies of manuscripts should be submitted in English, follow APA style, be double-spaced throughout, including references, tables and indented quotations, and cannot be under consideration by another publication. An abstract not to exceed 200 words must be included with submissions. Send to: Michael S. Vaughn, Editor, Criminal Justice Review, P.O. Box 4018, Georgia State University, Atlanta, GA 30302-4018; 404-651-3688; Email: mvaughn@gsu.edu; Web Site: www.gsu.edu/cjr.

INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL JUSTICE REVIEW
The International Criminal Justice Review is an annual scholarly journal dedicated to presenting system wide trends and problems on crime and justice throughout the world. Articles may focus on a single country or compare issues affecting two or more countries. Both qualitative and quantitative pieces are encouraged, providing that they adhere to standards of quality scholarship. Manuscripts may emphasize either contemporary or historical topics. As a peer-reviewed journal, we encourage the submission of articles, research notes, commentaries, and comprehensive essays that focus on crime and justice-related topics in an international and/or comparative context broadly defined. In addition to an electronic version of the manuscript submitted in either Microsoft Word or WordPerfect, five paper copies of manuscripts should be submitted in English, follow APA style, be double-spaced throughout, including references, tables and indented quotations, and cannot be under consideration by another publication. An abstract not to exceed 200 words must be included with submissions. Send to: Michael S. Vaughn, Editor, International Criminal Justice Review, P.O. Box 4018, Georgia State University, Atlanta, GA 30302-4018; 404-651-3688; Email: mvaughn@gsu.edu; Web Site: www.gsu.edu/icjr.
WESTERN CRIMINOLOGY REVIEW

The Western Criminology Review is the official journal of the Western Society of Criminology, and we invite all ASC members to submit their research to the journal. Published three times a year, WCR is an on-line, peer-reviewed outlet for scholarly research in all matters important to criminology and criminal justice. The journal is intended to reflect local (Western), national, and international concerns. Manuscripts are submitted electronically, and all correspondence is conducted online to speed the review process. Due to the advantages of being an online journal, there are no page, color, or appendix restrictions; authors can include hypertext links and images at their discretion. Our evaluation process of submitted papers involves a brief internal consideration by editorial staff, followed by a blind assessment by two external reviewers. Replies and Comments to previously published articles are encouraged. All submissions should be formatted according to the journal’s guidelines for manuscripts, which can be found on the WCR web-site at <http://wcr.sonomarest.edu>. Persons interested in submitting their work to WCR should send inquiries to Sharon Chamard <afsec@uaa.alaska.edu, 907-786-1813> or André Rosay <afabr@uaa.alaska.edu, 907-786-1821>, Co-Editors, Justice Center, University of Alaska Anchorage, 3211 Providence Dr., Anchorage, AK, 99508-4614.

In addition to regular issues, WCR will be publishing a Special Issue on Offender Reentry and Reintegration, which will be guest edited by Roger Jarjoura, School of Public and Environmental Affairs, Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis. Manuscripts must focus on the reentry and/or reintegration of prisoners (juveniles and/or adults). International submissions are encouraged. Those interested in submitting a manuscript for consideration should contact guest editor Roger Jarjoura at <rjarjour@iupui.edu, 317-278-2270>. The deadline for submission for this special issue is March 1, 2005.

List of Ph.D. Graduates in Criminal Justice,
Criminology and Related Fields

Please send pertinent information (student name, dissertation title, advisor, date degree was completed, university granting the degree) to Shuchika Sharma (shuchias@hotmail.com).

2004

TAMMY S. GARLAND, “Saving Our Youth: A Preliminary Assessment of the Adults Relating to Kids (ARK) Program,” Chaired by Dennis R. Longmire, Sam Houston State University, August 2004.

HONGWEI ZHANG, “Enforcement of Protective Orders to Domestic Victims—A Narrative Analysis in Harris County, Texas,” Chaired by Raymond H. Teske, Sam Houston State University, August 2004.
CALL FOR PAPERS

JOURNAL OF CONTEMPORARY CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Special Issue: Occupational Stress in Criminal Justice
(February 2006 issue)

The Journal of Contemporary Criminal Justice invites submissions to be considered for inclusion in a planned special issue on Occupational Stress in Criminal Justice. The issue encourages manuscripts on a broad range of topics which exam the situational constraints of the work and/or the structural arrangements of the workplace as causes of occupational stress among criminal justice professionals; coping strategies by workers and/or agency adaptations to workplace stressors; and the physical, psychological and behavioral effects of stress on the individual and/or the costs of stress to the organization. Manuscripts may focus on professionals working in the areas of policing, courts and court administration, institutional corrections, community corrections, or other agencies and services that are affiliated with the criminal justice system or serve criminal justice clients. Inquiries about the appropriateness of topics should be directed to John Hepburn, JCCJ Guest Editor, via e-mail (John.Hepburn@asu.edu) or telephone (480 965-7085). All papers will be peer reviewed. Manuscripts should be no more than 30 typed, double-spaced pages including tables, figures and references. Manuscripts must be received no later than April 15, 2005. Please send four manuscript copies, along with the manuscript on disk, to John Hepburn, JCCJ Guest Editor, School of Justice and Social Inquiry, Arizona State University, Tempe, AZ 85287-0403.

JOURNAL OF CONTEMPORARY ETHNOGRAPHY

Scott A. Hunt is the editor-elect for the Journal of Contemporary Ethnography. JCE publishes theoretically, methodologically, and substantively significant studies based upon participant-observation, unobtrusive observation, intensive interviewing, and contextualized analysis of discourse as well as examinations of ethnographic methods. Submissions from all substantive areas and theoretical perspectives are welcomed. Email manuscript submissions (in Word or WordPerfect format) may be sent to sahunt00@uky.edu. Hardcopy submissions and all other correspondence should be sent to Scott A. Hunt, Editor, Journal of Contemporary Ethnography, Department of Sociology, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky 40506-0027. A processing fee of US $10 must be submitted via a check or money order made payable to the Journal of Contemporary Ethnography.

ANNALS OF THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

DEMOCRACY, CRIME AND JUSTICE

Special Issue Editors: Susanne Karstedt, Keele University, UK, and Gary LaFree, University of Maryland, USA

This volume seeks to consolidate and advance the study of democracy, crime and justice. We invite contributions from criminology, political science, sociology and related disciplines that explore the reciprocal connections between democratic institutions and processes and criminal behavior and criminal justice institutions. We seek broad coverage of these topics but with an emphasis on cross-national comparative approaches and democracies in transition. We plan to solicit both empirical and theoretical papers, and seek both cross-national comparative and case studies from both mature and newly emerging democracies and for a range of crime types and criminal justice institutions.

The following questions suggest the breadth of topics to be addressed: Under what circumstances does the transition to democracy initiate a wave of crime and corruption? Is democracy, especially in the context of market economies, inherently criminogenic? How do responses to crime in both established and transitional democracies undermine civil liberties and affect public demands for restrictive changes in democratic institutions? How can transitional countries develop new democratic institutions and yet meet public demands for safety and security? How can criminal justice innovations (e.g., community crime prevention, restorative justice) be used to strengthen democracies? What new roles can communities develop for providing the moral order on which democracies rely and on which they thrive? How can principles of democratic governance be transferred to the supra- and international level in an increasingly globalized security environment? How do democratic states preserve and defend justice in the face of increasing threats from transnational crime and terrorism?

The editors plan to use the 14th World Congress of Criminology [Philadelphia, USA, 7-12 August 2005 (www.worldcriminology2005.com)] as an opportunity to identify papers for the volume.

Timetable and deadlines: We plan to have a final list of contributors by November 30, 2005 and final manuscripts by June 30, 2006. Final acceptance of all manuscripts will be made by the Editors of the Annals. For more information, contact the special issue editors: Susanne Karstedt: s.karstedt@keele.ac.uk or Gary LaFree: glafree@msn.com
2005 ANNUAL MEETING

MAKE YOUR RESERVATIONS EARLY FOR TORONTO

Royal York Hotel
Toronto, Ontario
Canada

Single/Double Rate: $239.00 Canadian or roughly $189.00 U.S.

You MUST mention that you are with the ASC to obtain these rates. Please be aware, to guarantee your room reservation, the above hotels may charge your credit card for the first room night.

MARK YOUR CALENDAR
FUTURE ASC ANNUAL MEETING DATES

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Month</th>
<th>City</th>
<th>Hotel/Hotel Group</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2005</td>
<td>November 16-19</td>
<td>Toronto</td>
<td>Royal York Hotel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2006</td>
<td>November 1-4</td>
<td>Los Angeles</td>
<td>Hyatt Regency Los Angeles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2007</td>
<td>November 14-17</td>
<td>Atlanta</td>
<td>Atlanta Marriott Marquis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Atlanta Sheraton</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2008</td>
<td>November 12-15</td>
<td>St. Louis</td>
<td>Adams Mark Hotel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>St. Louis Marriott Hotel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2009</td>
<td>November 11-14</td>
<td>Philadelphia</td>
<td>Philadelphia Marriott</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2010</td>
<td>November 17-20</td>
<td>San Francisco</td>
<td>San Francisco Marriott</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2011</td>
<td>November 16-19</td>
<td>Washington, D.C.</td>
<td>Capital Hilton Hotel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2012</td>
<td>November 14-17</td>
<td>Chicago</td>
<td>Palmer House Hilton Hotel</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>